ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

At the very outset I express with a deep sense of gratitude to Dr. C.S. Kalyankar, Reader, Department of Economics, Marathwada University, Aurangabad, for his valuable guidance and constant encouragement in carrying out the research work during the period of this study. I have also received help and cooperation from several individuals and institutions.

I am thankful to Librarians of Jawharlal Nehru Library, University of Bombay, Gokhale Institute of Politics and Economics, Poona, National Institute of Rural Development, Hyderabad and Marathwada University, Aurangabad for providing library facilities.

My thanks are also due to the different Embassies of Arab Oil Exporting Countries in New Delhi, League of Arab States Mission, New Delhi, and Indian Investment Centre, New Delhi, for supplying me necessary literature on their economies.

I also thank Shri P.P. Barwal for typing of this work neatly. And lastly my wife Nalini too, who inspired me to do this humble work at this earliest.

June, 1985. (B. V. Kamble)