A very special thank you goes to Prof P A Attar, who, in his gracious generosity with his time, inspiring conversations and valuable critical comments, has encouraged me to undertake and complete this research work. I would like to thank Prof C J Jahagirdar for supporting me to initiate the Ph D research work. Also, my thanks to the staff at the Department of English, Shivaji University, Kolhapur. Particularly, my sincere thanks are due to Prof Dr J A Shinde (now retired) and Dr M L Jadhav and for helping me in the early stage of the research work.

A warm thank to my long time friends, both in and outside Shivaji University: Randhir Shinde, Mehga Kadam Pansare, Rafique Suraj Mulla, Rajan Gavas, Himanshu Smart for providing me with their encouraging support and enthusiasm for the work.

I am grateful to the staff of the Barrister Balasaheb Khardekar Library, Shivaji University, Kolhapur; Jayakar Library, University of Pune; the library at Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi; the library at Osmania University Centre for International Programmes-OUCIP, and The Ramesh Mohan Library, The English and Foreign Languages University, Hyderabad.

Finally, I owe thanks to my family for being such a solid support through last few years of crazy peregrinations through Ichalkaranji, Kolhapur and Bangalore. My brother Avinash and his family; mother-in-law, Alka Bhosale; and the Thorat and the Jadhav families have been very supportive of my work and interests. My parents, with their unconditional support, have given me courage to accept new challenges and go where my interests take me. I express, in a most understated way, my thanks to Deepalee for being the best combination of companion and critic to provide a foundation of happiness and stability through the years of the research work. For what I owe to my children Devraya and Digantar, to have them in my life, no words are adequate.
