ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Doctoral Research Programme at the Coimbatore Institute of Technology, under the Bharathiar University has been an enthralling, enriching, and enlightening learning experience for me, a shop-floor practitioner. During the course of my study I had the privileged opportunity of meeting and associating with eminent personalities both in academic and industrial fields, who had voluntarily contributed their might for my research work, which deserve my sincere gratitude and thanks.

First among them is Dr. N. Murugan, Assistant Professor of Mechanical Engineering Department, Coimbatore Institute Of Technology (CIT), Coimbatore, who offered his guidance and supervision voluntarily. He was insistent on formalizing the otherwise the casual exploration of Tamil literature, resulting into the present structured study. I express my sincere gratitude and thanks to Dr. N. Murugan for the initiation and continuation of his valued guidance and supervision.

I wish to thank Dr. S. Dhandapani, Professor and Head of the Mechanical Engineering Department, CIT, for his critical but valuable and encouraging views and advises. I thank Dr. R. Prabhakar, Principal, CIT, for accommodating my various requests and for his support during the study. My heartfelt thanks are due to the administrative and computer laboratory staffs as well as other eminent academic / teaching faculties of CIT, Coimbatore.

Dr. C. Rajendran, Professor, Department of Humanities, Indian Institute of Technology Madras, Chennai, had provided the impetus required in shaping the study in a focused manner to achieve the desired result. But for him the research would not have resulted in the present form. He is quite bonhomie with human values. I ascribe my profound sense of gratitude and sincere thanks to Dr. C. Rajendran, for his perpetual exhortation and intensive and instant help rendered whenever I needed.

I express my gratitude with thanks to Dr. S. Seshan, Professor, Department of Mechanical Engineering, Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore, for helping me in getting the abstracts of the research papers from the IISc information centre and for his valuable suggestions.

My hearty thanks to the officials of Tamil University, Thanjavur for their valuable interactions and suggestions.

My sincere thanks are due to Mrs. Amirtha Mani who has synergised my thoughts and actions in fulfilling the present study / research from conception to completion without her continuous help in typing and computer formatting, the work would not have been completed easily. I am also grateful to Mr. Monto Mani for his help in the collection of literature works and formatting the documents. I thank Mrs. Geethanjali Monto and Mr. Kenny Mani, who along with other members of the family had provided conducive and encouraging environment.

I would be failing in my duty if I do not express my appreciation of all those authors who had contributed abundant literature, which were liberally used in the formulation of the Contemporary-Classical TQM Model and in the construction of the thesis hence I wish to place on record my sincere thanks to one and all.

T. P. Mani