During the studies that resulted in this document, I realized that there are a few things in life that I can claim as being truly my own. At each step during this journey I was influenced and supported by many individuals, each contributing to my studies, personal views and interpretations of science and the world as a whole. A great many of my spiritual family in the Lord supported with prayer at times when motivation dwindled or when seemingly dead ends stared me in the face. To these friends I am truly grateful for giving me the most priceless support of all.

During my studies there were also persons who aided me immensely in growing as a researcher as well as with practical help and skills transfer, without whom this study would not be possible. Of these people I would like to especially mention the following:

I express my sincere gratitude to my guru Dr. B. S. Giriyappanavar for his continued coaching and efforts, many times beyond the call of mere duty. I especially enjoyed his energy in not backing down to new challenges. As a research supervisor for this thesis, I would like to thank him for his insightful comments and helping me answer the relevant questions. It was a pleasure to be around his upbeat attitude, refreshing sense of humor and great personality.

I thank Dr. A.A. Hooli, Principal, Dr. C.F. Mulimani, Vice-Principal, Karnataka Science College, Dharwad and Dr. V. H. Arali ex-Principal for their encouragement and administrative support.

I thank authority of Karnataka University, Dharwad for administrative support to carry the research work.
I also express my heartfelt thanks to Dr. K. Kotresha Head, Dr. (Smt.) D. M. Singh, Dr. C. G. Patil, Dr. K. P. Kolkar for their suggestions and encouragement throughout the research work and non-teaching staff for their timely help.

I extend my sincere thanks to the staff members of P.G. Department of Studies in Botany, Prof. T. C. Taranath, Chairman, Prof. H. Niranjana Murthy, Prof. H. C. Lakshman, Prof. Ch. Ramesh, Prof. M. Jayaraj, Dr. S. N. Agadi, Dr. G. S. Mulgund Dr. D. Thangadurai, retired Prof. G. R. Hegde and non-teaching staff for their support and help.

I am grateful to Dr. Shankar P. Hosmani, former Professor of Botany, University of Mysore for showing me what the rewards are of diligence and unwavering dedication to one's passions. Thank you sir for teaching me that the only way to advancement of science is the duplication of skills in other individuals. I thank mostly for his patience in teaching me the lessons of Phycological Research.

I thank Dr. S.G.Bharathi Retd. Prof. P.G. Department of Botany, Karnataka University, Dharwad and mentor of my research supervisor for the encouragement to undertake the Algological study.

I also extend my sincere thanks to Prof. Jiri Komarek, Prof. Peter Coesel, Prof. Ebenard Hegewald, Prof. Glenn McGregor, Prof. J.P. Kociolek, Prof. Rex Lowe, Dr. Paul Hamilton, Dr. Luigi Naselli-Flores, Dr. Jonathan Taylor, Dr. Marina Potapova, Dr. Marteen Christenhutz, Dr. Karthick Balasubramanian, Dr. Alakananda Sripad for providing valuable manuscripts and priceless suggestions. Mr. Michel for providing necessary facilities required for Diatom Studies.

I owe my heartfelt thanks to my research colleagues and friends Smt. P.B. Shivalli, Shri. G. P. Yelavattimath, Dr. Sidanand V. Kambar Mr. Nagabhushan S. Harihar, Ms. K. Premalatha, Dr. Ravikumar C. Baratakke, Dr. Shivanand H.
