Finished Finally! On looking back, it has been a bumpy but worthwhile ride. One year of being bedridden after my pre submission due to a severe accident did not help me reach this finishing line faster at all. I was at the deepest depth of despair but there stood my formidable Guide Dr. MN Rajesh as the answer to my prayer, to be my unwavering force throughout the jaunty journey of my research. He does not have the word ‘No’ in his vocabulary; it is reassuring and comforting to work under his guidance. We go way back since my MPhil days, and what I have learned from him encompasses academic wisdom but stretches much beyond, towards wider visions. He has taught me life’s lessons which will always be my road maps. His mother, understanding my problems and difficulties, has lent me moral support with compassion and kindness, for which I am most indebted to.

Prof K.P. Rao, Department Head and my doctoral committee members - Prof Rekha Pande, Dr. George Tharakan and Dr. Romesh Singh- are instrumental in my quest for research knowledge, thesis ideas and suggestions.

I am most grateful to my family in the United States, Prof Ann Denkler. If my thesis had brilliant edges, it would be owing to her meticulous scrutiny, careful chiselling and helpful honing. She is my guardian angel, not just a resourceful teacher but a kind friend.

I owe immense gratitude to Prof RL Hangloo, who is my teacher and my friend in the campus. He helped me with my hostel problems, aided me when I was lying parasitic on my accident bed for many months taking charge of all my official and academic papers. I can never forget what his family has sacrificed for me in my times of need.

I thank the staff members of the Asiatic Society of Bengal, Mizoram state Archive and NEHU Library for providing me with resource materials. I am fortunate to have interacted with Rev. ZT Sangkhuma and Mr. Lalchhanhima, Leader of Mizo Israelist (L) in Saiha and in Lawngtlai respectively.

I truly appreciate the language editing task done by the very efficient Laldinpuii (Di-di), a PhD English Language Scholar. She took more pain and care working on my thesis than hers. I thank James for his creative art work.

I thank my family in Mumbai, Zautea Saiawi and Babie, and my colleagues at PUC, Dr. J.V Hluna, Pu Sangpuia, U Maengi, Esther and Mahmingi in Aizawl and all those who have prayed for me. They are my blessings.

The Mizo Community in my campus has become an indelible part of my life. My life has been shaped, moulded and enriched here. I thank the physical and moral support of all those who have stood by me during my accident.

I am most blessed to have my mother who is unconditional in her love and support for me. Her prayers, her financial support, her whole existence is for me and I derive strength and hope from her.

They say miracles are coincidences. I disagree. I have seen far too many miracles while working on this thesis that I cannot just consider them as mere coincidences. For me, this thesis is testimony of God’s existence. I have not just finished a thesis, but I have been made to learn the most important chapters and verses of my life like Kindness, Patience, Sufferings and Joy. My utmost gratitude is to God who has held my hands all throughout this strenuous but wonderful research journey.
