REFERENCES

Meenatchii & Benjamin (2013). Religious Attitude and Emotional Maturity of Student Teachers in Puducherry Region, 3(8).

Miller, Dawn M. (2008). The Correlation between Sense of Humour and Mental Health” Department of Psychology Missouri Western State University Sponsored by Brian Cronk.

Muntner, M. (2008). Teacher-Student Interactions: The Key To Quality Classrooms. The University of Virginia Center for Advanced Study of Teaching and Learning (CASTL).

Ron Deiter (2000). The use of humour as a teaching tool in the college classroom. NACTA journal.

Sarvis, J. Brain King (1989) Compression of attitudes of selected school teachers and principals towards the importance of teacher effectiveness characteristics in conducting teacher evaluation. Dissertation Abstracts International, 50(11), 3469-70 A.

