Acknowledgement

This thesis is the culmination of my long journey in obtaining the doctoral degree. There are some people whose contribution in assorted ways to the research and in making this thesis deserves special mention. I would like to convey my gratitude to them in my humble acknowledgement.

First and foremost I wish to express my deepest sense of gratitude to my supervisor, Prof. M. Ubaidullah, Department of Population Studies and Social Work, Sri Venkateswara University, Tirupati for his keen interest, guidance and supervision throughout the course of this study. He has always been kind enough to answer patiently my constant queries. His encouraging words lead me to finalize the work timely.

I express my sincere gratitude to my co-supervisor, Prof. Arvind Pandey, Director, National Institute of Medical Statistics, ICMR, New Delhi, for his able advice and guidance right from the beginning of the study. His busy schedule never inhibited me to avail this opportunity to learn from him this new and complex subject.

I am highly indebted to Prof. N. K. Ganguly, Former Director General, ICMR; Distinguished Biotechnology Professor & Adviser, Translational Health Science & Technology Institute, who always encouraged me in taking up higher study.

I would also acknowledge Dr. Damodar Sahu, Scientist-D, National Institute of Medical Statistics, ICMR, New Delhi, for his advice and nurturing me with confidence to complete this work in time.

I am grateful to Dr. Tulsi Adhikari, Scientist-D, National Institute of Medical Statistics, ICMR, New Delhi, for her help in preparing time series graph of the study.

I am thankful to Dr. K. V. Ratnakar, Library & Information Officer, and Mr. Praveen Kumar, Library & Information Assistant, Library & Information Centre, ICMR Hqrs., New Delhi, for their help in reference collection. I must also acknowledge the help and cooperation that I received from other members of ICMR Library & Information Centre.

I would like to thank Dr. R.S. Dhaliwal, Scientist F, ICMR Hqrs., New Delhi, for his encouraging words to complete this research.

I gratefully acknowledge Mr. Naresh Aggarwal, Library & Information Officer, Library & Information Centre, and Mr. Sharad Mathur, Technical Officer, National Institute of Medical Statistics, New Delhi for their help in collecting reference materials.

It is my privilege to pronounce my great sense of gratitude to my wife, Dharam, and children, Neha, Shreya and Vaibhav who always encouraged me and stood by me as towers of strength throughout my career. Finally, I would like to thank everybody who was important to the successful realization of the thesis, as well as expressing my apology that I could not mention personally one by one.

Last, but not the least, I thank the one above all of us, the omnipresent God for keeping me cheerful, healthy and rooted throughout the period.

Bal Kishan Gulati