This work is dedicated to

- My Gurus who taught me first alphabet and made me capable of understanding the real meaning of life. I shall remain indebted to them for bestowing upon me their blessings for my bright future.

- My parents, without whom my existence is nothing. In the beginning of my life, they held my hands and continue till now. All the credit of my success whatever I have achieved goes only to my parents because without their moral and financial support and right direction, this big achievement was not possible.

- My wife who stood by me in all the odd and good times and extended me every possible help to reach to the logical conclusion of my research work. I pray the Almighty for her long life.