ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It gives me immense pleasure to place on records my heartiest obligation to Professor N.N. Awasthi, M.A (Economics), M.S.W. (Bombay), D.H.E (Calcutta), Ph.D, Head of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar Institute of Social Sciences, Bundelkhand University, Jhansi, who made it possible for me to work on such a social problem prevalent on a large scale in a country like India. I express my reverent gratitude to him for his geniality, able guidance and sound supervision in carrying out the present study.

My profound thanks are due to the members of library and publishing department of V.V. Giri National Labour Institute, Noida for providing me literature and books which helped me in this study.

I am thankful to Officers of Ministry of Labour and Employment, Government of India, who gave me time from their busy working schedule to provide me literature, books and latest researches conducted by Government.

I am beholden to several authors whose research works and studies provided a lot help in the conceptual frame work of the present study.

I am grateful to Dr. Pranay Prohit, MSW, PGDPR, Lecturer of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar Institute of Social Science/ Bundelkhand University, Jhansi whose ideas and valuable contributions have helped me a lot in the preparation of this study.

I will be failing in my duty, if I do not express my sense of gratitude to my parents Mr. Mahesh Chand Sahu and Mrs. Jyoti Sahu as for their inexhaustible patience, support, encouragement, co-operation and efforts I would not have been able to make research worth while. However, it would be too facetious and formal to thank them in mere words.

I could always count on the benevolence and encouragement I received from my younger sister Charu Sahu who extended every support and possible help to enable me to complete it without much difficulty. The good wishes and blessings of my Relatives and Friends need a special mention.

I am grateful to Mr. Firoz Khan, Mr. Shahjad & Mr. Sazid of Print Palace for their help in bringing out this script in present form. Every line of this script bears their keen interest and kind labour.

Lastly, I offer my whole hearted gratitude to all of them who directly or indirectly, have made it possible for me to present this work in this form.
