ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Though only my name appears on the cover of this thesis, a great my parents blessing have contributed to its production. Really, this thesis work would not have been possible without the unrelenting support from my parents and all best wishers. I owe my sincere gratitude to all those who helped me realize what I had set out for thereby giving me a chance to learn and grow in the process.

Foremost, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to Prof. Amrita Yadav, Head, Department of Psychology, M.D. University, Rohtak. I completed this work with the help of her positive support to achieve the apex of education.

I offer my sincerest gratitude to my psycho-guru and Ph.D. supervisor Prof. Madhu Anand, who is not just an extraordinary and dynamic personality but an extremely knowledgeable, resourceful and supportive. Whatever I learnt in the field of Psychology is because of her. My words and numericals fail whenever I try to express my gratitude to her. She was always there just behind me as my best wisher. Her support throughout my research period was unimaginable. Only because of her inspirations, suggestions, positive support in crises situation and care I, could win the battle of research (finishing Ph.D. thesis). I would always remain indebted to her for helping me find the meaning in my work, and realize my potential.

I owe my heartiest gratitude to my elder brother Mr Sanjay Kundu, who encouraged, supported and always motivated me to complete research work.

I am deeply indebted to all the teaching and administrative staff members of Department of Psychology, Maharshi Dayanand University, for their valuable guidance, suggestions, encouragement in preparation of this research work.

I would be really failing in my duty, if I will not mention the Librarian and all the Library staff of Maharshi Dayanand University, Rohtak for their kind cooperation and timely assistance.

I also express my special gratitude to Mr. Naveen, Consultant Rehabilitation Psychologist, NIMH, Secunderabad, Andhra Pradesh for his unbelievable support to start the research work.

My heartily thanks to all the experts for their immeasurable contribution to translation of tools from English to Hindi language because it was very important and initial phase to start the work for data collection.
My special thanks to my fellows Dr. A. D. Paswan, Principal, SIRTAR, Rohtak / Dr. Mukesh, Rehabilitation Psychologist, SIRTAR, Rohtak for their timely assistance and guidance.

Grateful acknowledgements are also due to all the Department of School Education staff from district Rohtak, School teachers, Learning Disabled children and their family members for their painstaking and highly appreciative endeavour of work which sound as a base for relevant & reliable intervention help.

I also extend my heartiest thanks to all my colleagues of District Early Intervention Centre, General Hospital, Rohtak for their encouragement and cooperation.

I have sought to do this research to the best of my potential; I hope to get valuable suggestions from the evaluators of my work, which will help me and future aspirants to work more in this field of research. Judicious caution was taken to present the data systematically and to interpret the results obtained logically and meaningfully without any bias. However, if there exist any mistakes and /or typing error, the same is regretted.

I thank them all and the others who genuinely offered wish help. I appreciate everyone whom I have thanklessly missed to remember and have contributed towards completion of the work.

Karmvir