REFERENCES

[25] E Grossi, "How artificial intelligence tools can be used to assess individual patient risk in cardiovascular disease: problems with the current methods", Journal of BMC Cardiovascular Disorders, pp. 1-6, 2006

[58] R Rajesh, M.R Kaimal, “Soft computing and its application to the design of intelligent controllers”, 14th Kerala Science Congress, Kochi, India, pp.514-517, 2002

[69] S Kartalopoulos, Understanding Neural Networks and Fuzzy Logic, IEEE Press, NY

[82] L Breiman, J Friedman, R Olshen and C Stone, Classification and Regression Trees. Wardsworth Int. Group, Belmont, California, 1984

[115] F.M Ham, S Han, "Classification of cardiac arrhythmias using fuzzy ARTMAP" IEEE Trans. on Biomedical Engineering, vol.43, no.4, pp.425-429, 1996

[121] K-T Khaw, Epidemiology of coronary heart disease in women, Edited by N.K Wenger and P Collins, Women and heart disease, Taylor and Francis, 2005

[123] N Walker, and A.R Lorimer, Coronary heart disease: Epidemiology, Pathology and Diagnosis, Edited by G.M Lindsay, A Gaw, Coronary heart disease prevention, Churchill Livingstone, pp.1-27, 2004

[124] G.M Lindsay, Risk Factor Assessment, Edited by G.M Lindsay and A Gaw, Coronary heart disease prevention, Churchill-Livingstone, pp.29-52, 2004

[132] P.W.F Wilson, Cardiovascular disease risk factors in women, Edited by N.K Wenger and P Collins, Women and heart disease, Taylor and Francis, 2005

[133] E Farish and G.M Lindsay, Women and coronary heart disease, Edited by G.M Lindsay, A Gaw, Coronary heart disease prevention, Churchill Livingstone, pp.287-307, 2004

[137] D.R gala, D Gala and S Gala, Diabetes, High blood pressure without any fear, Navneet Publications, India, 2004

[140] D.S Wald, Serum homocysteine and coronary heart disease, Edited by N.K Wenger and P. Collins, Women and heart disease, Taylor and Francis, 2005

