ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

My devotion-filled regards to Sri Venkateswara University and to my Mother Department, i.e., Department of Physics, for nurturing and moulding me comprehensively from every perspective, during the period of my education.

My profound gratitude to my research supervisor Prof. M. Krishnaiah of Department of Physics, Sri Venkateswara University, Tirupati, for inspiring me to carry out such work, linking Ancient Indian Knowledge to modern-day Science and on pollution studies. My heartfelt thankfulness to Dr. Rani Sadasiva Murty, Senior Lecturer in Sahitya, Rashtriya Sanskriti Vidya Peetha, Tirupati for his timely advice, valuable insights and fruitful discussions.

I thank all the Heads of the Department, Chairmen of Board of Studies in Physics for encouraging me to accomplish my research task and making me realize my merits and demerits during the course of research. I also thank all the principals of S.VU. College of Sciences during the tenure of my PhD, for allowing me benevolently, the access to utilize various departmental facilities.

My humble respects to Dr. Bhavani Kumar, Scientist – E, National Atmospheric Research Laboratory (NARL), Gadanki, for introducing me to atmospheric science and initiating my research work in this direction. My thoughts reach out in veneration to Dr. Harish Gadhavi, Scientist – E, NARL, for instilling the confidence, which made me adhere to this field of meteorology unsparingly.

I convey my heartfelt thankfulness to Sri Lakshmikant Reddy, Sri Jitender Reddy, Sri Vijay Kumar Reddy and other associate staff of Visin Labs, Hyderabad for providing the required experimental equipment.

I express my sincere indebtedness to Prof. Sreenivasulu Reddy and Prof. Sumati of Sri Venkateswara Agricultural College, Tirupati for giving me access to the meteorological data.

My special gratitude-filled acknowledgement to gifted and renowned artist Mr. Singampalli Satyanarayana (Chhauya) who facilitated my data collection and accompanied me patiently and affectionately during my desperate pursuit for latest meteorological data over Tirupati region.

My whole-hearted acknowledgement to National Data Centre, India Meteorological Department (IMD), Pune for the supply of the surface data that is essential for undertaking some vital assignments of the present work.

I would consider myself failing in my duty if I do not extend my reverential appreciation to National Institute of Hydrology (NIH), Roorkee for bringing out an excellent report on Hydrology in Ancient India and I equally thank ‘India Water Portal’ for hosting that meritorious work.

I grab this opportunity to place on record; the backing of my senior research scholars Dr. J. Radha Krishna, Mr. Kameswara Rao, Mr. G. Kiran Kumar, Dr. V.H.H. Surendra Babu, Dr. U. Jayaprakash Raju, Dr. Vishnu Prashanth and others during the period of my research. It would be rendered incomplete in this context, if I do not mention the efficient assistance offered to me by my fellow research scholars Mr. Shafee-ul-Ahmed, Dr. K. Niranjan Kumar, Ms. Subhashini, Mr.
Dhananjay Kumar and others. I cannot even afford to imagine ignoring all the painstaking efforts, counseling and time-tested endurance of the members of my family, dear friends and well-wishers.

My first and foremost salutations to my Parents Dr. Parvati Devi and Dr. Rama Moorthy for bestowing upon me the essential strength, Divine Blessings and the requisite endurance to carry out and complete my research. I express my profound gratefulness and appreciation to Ms. Haripriya Chinthapally, USA for her undaunted, able and invaluable support as well as meritorious cooperation in statistical data programming and in formatting the thesis.

I do not wish to forgo and forfeit this opportunity to give vent to my feeling of indebtedness to all the authors/organisations/publishers cited in the references section whose works and efforts stood as the beacon lights in the course of my voyage to realize the serene shores of my research assignment.

Last; but the best, I am grateful to all the ‘Worthy Sons of this Nation’, who have made, who are making and who are going to make Mother India elated with pride and take Her for a ride on the ‘Chariot of Perpetual Progress and Perennial Prosperity’.

__________________________________________________________________