This chapter contains detailed tables and charts that have been prepared during the course of research, which forms the core material of research and also the copy of blank interview schedules that the researcher has used to gather the primary information from the mango cultivators as well as mango processors. It also contains the coding sheet that has been prepared for analyzing primary information.