ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

At the flag end of this great voyage in the quest for knowledge and wisdom, which also marks the beginning of a new horizon, it is in fact an insurmountable task to acknowledge all those people who planted and nurtured the spirit of faith and hope in accomplishing this great endeavor. Still then an attempt has been made to extend heartfelt reciprocal acknowledgement with sincere gratitude and great respect to the following:

First of all I offer my sincere obsequies unto the lotus feet of Lord, who is cause of all causes and is the source of knowledge, intelligence, spirit, and everything in this material world, without whose mercy nothing can be accomplished in this world. I take this opportunity to offer my respectful regards unto the feet of my beloved parents who stood behind me in all my endeavors and inspired me to take up this task in a challenging spirit and accomplish the same, since beginning.

Secondly I think myself as the most fortunate living being on this earth for having worked under the direct guidance and supervision of Sri. Dr. Ashok H Chackadi, the Professor of Management, KIMS, Karnataka university, Dharwad, the most successful academician and researcher of our region and the man behind revolution in management studies in this part of the country. His critical comments, mind tickling remarks, creative thoughts, encouraging words and complete support (moral, academic, philosophical....) throughout the study period has enabled me to accomplish this great voyage of knowledge successfully.

It is in fact a matter of great privilege to express my sincere gratitude to the most charismatic personality and also a great researcher, Sri. Dr. M S Subhas (The Dean and Director, KIMS, Karnataka University, Dharwad), for his valuable and timely help during my study period.

It gives me an immense pleasure to express my profound indebtedness and heartfelt thanks to the most dynamic, and charming personality, Sri. Dr. H S Vijaykumar, Honorable Ex-Vice Chancellor, University of Agricultural Sciences, Dharwad, for encouraging me to pursue higher studies and progress in my career path since the beginning of my career as an academician and also helping me in all respects throughout the study period.

I personally think myself as very lucky for having got a chance to work under Sri. Dr. C S Rajgopal (The Director, JSS DVH IMSR, Dharwad). I take this opportunity to express my heartfelt thanks for supporting me in all respects during the most critical period of research, i.e., during final submission. I also thank the management of Janata Shikshana Samithi, Dharwad for providing the necessary help and support.
I owe my thanks to Prof. Ashalatha K. V, associate Professor, University of Agricultural Sciences, Dharwad, for her valuable guidance, especially during the analysis phase of my research work.

I extend warm and heartfelt thanks with a great respect to Sri. Guru Sevanand Prabhu, an ISKCON devotee from Brazil. His holiness helped me a lot in searching various important websites of Brazil, gathering relevant information pertaining to my research topic, and then translating the same from Portuguese language to English.

I gratefully acknowledge the cooperation and help extended to me by all the respondents of survey, i.e., mango cultivators, mango processors and representatives of various associations, who shared required information along with their own views, thoughts and perspectives pertaining to this study. Without their contribution, this study wouldn’t have been made possible.

Last but not the least, I express my heartfelt thanks to all my colleagues, friends, relatives, well wishers, DTP expert Sri. Anup, and also the students for their kind support in this great endeavor.

I will be failing in my duties, if I don’t express my heartfelt indebtedness to my wife Smt. Sangeeta, who kept me inspired all along with great love, care and affection. I am indebted to my nephew Sri. Venugopal, son Raghunandan and daughters Shraddha and Krishnapiya for cheering me up in times of hardships.

........ any omission in this short note of acknowledgement does not mean lack of gratitude.

Dharwad Purushottam Bung
