BIBLIOGRAPHY

BOOKS

4. Hoda Anwarul, "WTO Agreement and Indian Agriculture", Published by Social Science Press, New Delhi, 2002.

REPORTS

ARTICLES

Food and Agricultural Organisation, Thai Office of Agricultural Economics, World Sugar Cane growing areas, world sugar demand, major producer etc. Source: www.foodmarketexchange.com/datacenter/product/sugar.

15. FAO Agricultural Commodity Projections to 2010,’Sugar Tropical beverage crops and fruits’, Pp 59-66 and page 116 to 120.

16. FAO Agricultural Commodity Projections to 2010,’Summary Methodology of the Quantitative Analysis and projections’, page 377 to 381.

46. OECD- FAO Agricultural Outlook, Chapter 4, ‘Sugar’, page 81 to 93, OECD publishing.
47. Oxfam Briefing Note, “An End to EU Sugar Dumping? - Implications of the WTO panel ruling in the dispute against EU sugar policies brought by Brazil, Thailand and Australia” 28 April 2005.

65. Schmitz Andrew, “Brazil playing havoc in the World Sugar Market”,
Proceedings of the Cuba/ FAO International Sugar Conference, Cuba, 7-9
December 1999.

66. Thiesen Erik, “Sugar perspectives to 2005: growers point of view”,
Proceedings of the Cuba/ FAO International Sugar Conference, Cuba, 7-9
December 1999.

67. USDA Agricultural Outlook, “What’s at stake in the next round”, special

68. Uthaya Suriyan K., “India and WTO”, Facts For You, December 2003, page 31 to 32.

69. Vethirajan C., “WTO barriers to Agro Trade”, Facts For You, June 2004, page 44 to 46.

70. Voicilas Marius Dan, “The Competitiveness of the Sugar Chain in Romania and the Investment Attractiveness”, Institute of Agricultural Economics, Romanian Academy, Bucharest, 2004-05.

71. Vrolijk Bart, “Sugar regime of the European Union”, Proceedings of the Cuba/ FAO International Sugar Conference, Cuba, 7-9 December 1999.

72. Willers David and Jolly Lindsay, ‘Views of the International Sugar
Organisation’, FAO Corporate Document Repository, Originated by Economics & Social Department, titled, ‘Consultation on Agricultural Commodity Price Problems’.

73. Wilson Dominic and Purushothaman Roopa, “Dreaming with BRICS: The