ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I place on record my profound gratitude to Dr. Bhagawati Prasad, Professor, Kousali Institute of Management Studies, Karnataka University, Dharwad for accepting to be the supervisor and for his learned guidance during the investigation.

I am deeply indebted to Dr. K. C. Hiremath, Professor and Head, Department of Agricultural Economics, College of Agriculture, Dharwad for his constructive criticism, comments and suggestions despite his busy academic schedule. He gave unstinted attention and provided ample guidance which I cannot acknowledge too eloquently.

I express my deep sense of gratitude for the evincive interest and unabated help rendered by Dr. K. P. C. Rao, Scientist CRIDA, Hyderabad, while going through the draft.

My warmest thanks and affections are due to my former colleagues, Sri G. Narasimha Rao and Sri K. V. Ram Reddy, in the comprehensive scheme, Department of Agricultural Economics, College of Agriculture, Hyderabad, who spared their invaluable time and assisted in preliminary tabulation and processing of data.

My sincere acknowledgements are due to the Economic and Statistical Advisor, Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Development, Government of India for having permitted me to utilise the disaggregated farm level data of the comprehensive Scheme, pertaining to Coastal Andhra Pradesh.
I wish to express my sincere thanks to Sri A.
Satyanarayana, Research Officer, Statistical Cell, A.E.
Agricultural University, Hyderabad for carrying out maticulously the required statistical analysis. My warm regards are due to Dr. P.B.Parthasarathy, Professor, Department of Agricultural Economics, College of Agriculture, Hyderabad for his encouragement and guidance.

To the patient and untiring labours of Sri Prakasa Rao who typed so intelligenily, I have every reason to be greatful to him. I have a debt to my other colleagues friends and well wishers such as Sri Venkata Rao, Dr. K.R.Chowdary, Dr.Radhi Sri K.Veeresh, Patil who helped me in completion of this onerous work.

Lastly, though not least, I owed much to my family members and parents for their constant pursuasion and moral support which were the source of courage and strength to shoulder the responsibility of completing this stupendous task.

Date: 1-8-1986.

(S.A.SATYANARAYANA)