Acknowledgement

At the outset, I am very much grateful to my research guide Dr. S.S. Naregal, Reader, Department of Studies in Geography, Karnatak University, Dharwad under whose scholarly supervision I was lucky enough to carry out this work. I am therefore immensely thankful to him for sparing his valuable time to guide me both in the laboratory and in the field work. Though he was very busy in guiding and supervising other Ph.D., and M.Phil students, he was giving due consideration for my work. I feel it is my proud privilege to be a research student under Dr. Naregal. Already more than half a dozen Ph.D., and M.Phil students have got their degrees under his able guidance. At this juncture, I remember Prof. N.K. De's words (Burdwan University, West Bengal) who visited our department in April, 1989 to conduct Ph.D. viva of Dr. Naregal's 6th student: "Dr. Naregal's school of geography in south India will emerge distinctly in the years to come".

I thank Dr. N.C. Vijay Raj, Professor and Chairman of the Department of Studies in Geography, Karnatak University, Dharwad who has extended all possible help and co-operation in the department to complete this work. I am equally thankful to Dr. G.V. Togarsi, (student of Dr. Naregal) Reader in Geography, Karnatak Science College, Dharwad and Mr. C.N. Mattimani (M.Phil student of Dr. Naregal) Lecturer, Kittle Arts College, Dharwad for their constant encouragement and timely help in the work.

My thanks are due to my colleagues Mr. F.V. Yavagal and (lecturer) and Dr. S.G. Kadaramandalgi (Reader), department of studies in geography, Karnatak University, Dharwad for their good wishes. I am very grateful to Shri B.L. Mattigatti lecturer in English, H.B. Junior College, Kundgol for his friendly advice and encouragement while working on this problem and also Dr. S.R. Nidagundi, Reader Department of Studies in Geography, Karnatak University, Post Graduate Centre Belgaum.

I was lucky enough to get sincere advice by Senior persons like Dr. S.S. Palled (Registrar, University of Agricultural Science, Dharwad) member of Academic Council Karnatak University, who in fact persuaded me to undertake this research work. His tireless assistance was not only in academic matters but also financial which helped me to complete this task. I am grateful to Dr. K.C. Hiremath, Retired Professor of Agricultural Economics, University of Agricultural Science Dharwad for his encouragement and pursuasion to work hard.
I am equally grateful to my well wishers like Dr. Prof. S.D. Sindhe Head, Department of Geography, Shivaji University, Kolhapur and Dr. Prof. P.S. Tiwari from Madras University, who have constantly encouraged me to complete the Ph.D. work. I also thank Shriyuts: Rayamane, A.S. (M.Phil Student of Dr. Naregal) lecturer, K.A.S. College, Hubli, Sri Nagaraj (M.Phil student of Dr. Naregal), F.G. Gurannavar, S.B. Shapeti (Ex-controller of Examinations, Karnataka University Dharwad) and G.Y. Karakannavar for their sympathy to complete the research work.

The present research work would not have been possible without the help and co-operation of the following officials. The District Planning Officer, Assistant Directors of Agriculture, Horticulture, Animal Husbandry, Mines and Geology, Soil Conservation and Industries of Bellary District. I owe much to the District Statistical Officer, Bellary, Deputy Directors of DPAP and DRDS, District Forest Officer, Superintending and Executive Engineers of Irrigation. I am very much thankful to Dr. C. Venugopal, and Dr. Giriddi, Govindaraj Readers, Department of Studies in English, Karnataka University Dharwad who made grammatical corrections in the manuscript.

I like to extend my heartfelt thanks to Smt. Girijadevi Naregal for her kind hospitality shown to me when I visited to
Dr. Naregal's residence in connection with the writing of the thesis. The lovely daughters of Dr. Naregal: Poornima, Jyoti and Keerti were quite affectionate and helping me indirectly in the work. May God bless them.

I am proud of my children Kum. Sheelavati, Mamata, Meenakshi, Lalita and master Basavaraj who were not only disturbed because of my work but were also of considerable assistance in arranging this thesis. I also owe much to my wife Smt. Girijadevi Bhadrapur who took up all the responsibilities of my family for the last two years and encouraged me to complete the thesis early. I am equally thankful to Ishwar Pakirappa Cholappanavar, my son-in-law who helped me in completing this work.

I am deeply indebted to Dr. A.S. Kadi, Reader, Department of Studies in Statistics, Karnataka University, Dharwad, Shri Harihar and his associates of Computer Section, Karnataka University, Dharwad for computing the data for step-wise regression analysis. The assistance of Shri S.B. Pawar, (Central main Library Karnataka University, Dharwad) should be remembered for his efficient and timely typing. I am very much thankful to Shri H.M. Jagtap, Cartographer, Department of Geography, Shivaji University, Kolhapur and Shri Tuke, V.N. Draftsman University of Agricultural Science Dharwad who prepared the maps and diagrams needed for the thesis in time, I owe much to the village farmers of the study area who co-operated and helped me while carrying out the field work. I extend my thanks to all those authors whose works are referred in this thesis. Lastly, I own the responsibility for any error, typographical mistakes etc. for which I beg pardon from the readers and examiners of this thesis.
