CONTENTS

List of tables & figures i-ii

CHAPTER - I
INTRODUCTION 1

1.1 The concepts and benefits of marriage
1.2 Psychological determinants of effective marriage
1.3 Concept of marital happiness and productivity
1.4 Marriages in India
1.4 Need for the study

CHAPTER - II
REVIEW OF LITERATURE 19

2.1 The marriage
2.2 Relationship as the determinant of effective marriage
2.3 Personality as the determinant of effective marriage
2.4 Attitude as the determinant of effective marriage
2.5 Values as the determinant of effective marriage
2.6 Similarity in clothing preference as a factor in choosing the life partner
2.7 Happiness and productivity as the products of effective marriage

CHAPTER - III
PROBLEM AND HYPOTHESES 49

3.1 Statement of the problem
3.2 Objectives of the study
3.3 Hypotheses
CHAPTER – IV
METHOD OF INVESTIGATION

4.1 Research design
  4.1.1 Pilot study
  4.1.2 Main study

4.2 Tool used
  4.2.1 Detailed interview schedule
  4.2.2 The marital Compatibility Scale Scoring
  4.2.3 Standardization of "The Marital Compatibility Scale"

4.3 Procedure

4.4 Statistical analyses

CHAPTER – V
RESULTS AND DISCUSSION

5.1 Psychological determinants of marital relationship

5.2 Factors influencing productivity of the married couples
  5.2.1 Factors influencing productivity of self
  5.2.2 Factors influencing productivity towards the family
  5.2.3 Factors influencing productivity to the society

5.3 Factors affecting happiness of the married couples

5.4 Comparison of couples with poor and better marital relationship

5.5 Comparison of couples with poor and better happiness

5.6 Comparison of couples with poor and better productivity

5.7 Factors discriminating couples with poor and better marital relationship

5.8 Overall discussion
CHAPTER – VI
SUMMARY, CONCLUSION AND APPLICATION

REFERENCES

APPENDICES

Appendix – I  Detailed interview schedule
Appendix – II  Marital compatibility scale
Appendix – III  Paper publication