ACKNOWLEDGEMENT.

It is very extremely cheerful experience to write a few words and to express my deep sense of gratitude towards the person who is life and soul to this work. My situation is aptly summed up by the lines,'when the heart is full, the tongue in silent'. Words are short to express contribution to this work.

There can be no other excellent opportunity then to express my profound sense of gratitude to my esteemed and exalted guide, Dr. A.P. Srivastava, Reader Dept. of Rural Economics and co-operation, Bundelkhand University, Jhansi who with his unfathomable knowledge and intelligence and untiring zest for work guided me unflinchingly throughout this humble venture. His intricate sense of individuality uncompromising standards, exemplary dedication and unequivocal precision set to trend and pace for this work, without his firm initiatives, timely and constructive criticism divine inspiration and above all a benevolent attitude, it would not be possible to present the thesis in this form.

The present study is an outcome of inspiration, encouragement and instigation of a few members of my family. I place my beloved and respected mother Smt. Shakuntala Gupta at the first place who moderated and motivated me in my life with suitable education and guidance. I shall be failing in my duty if I do not acknowledge my gratitude to my husband Sri J.S. Agarwal who has been a constant source of encouragement and zeal to me to complete this work. I feel highly obliged to my children, Km. Surabhi Agarwal, Mr. Saurabh Mittal and Mr. Sameer Agarwal who took a lot of pains in getting my work completed. I am thankful for their co-operation and untiring help. I express my deep sense of gratitude to Smt. Savitri Devi Rajan, Vice Principal and officiating Principal, Suraj Prasad Govt. Girls Inter College Jhansi for her kind co-operation and support. I am thankful also to her.

My sincerest thanks are also due to the persons like Librarian, Sri Surya Kant Yadav, Bundelkhand University Jhansi who provided me necessary facilities and the District Statistical Officer, Jhansi who has been kind enough to provide me needed statistical data and devices required to complete the present work. Besides the Block Development Officer, Baragaon and his staff who have been generous, courteous enough to assist me to collect primary data related to the villages of the block in which the field survey of the present volume was to be conducted. They managed my meetings with the households of the villages. I express my indebtedness and thanks to them. Furthermore I am obliged to the inhabitants of the villages who responded my questionnaire during the field survey of the study. I also thank to those persons who helped me directly and indirectly in the completion of the present work. I express my obligations to all sources reports and contributions which I consulted and used them in the present study of mine.
My thanks are also due to the typist Sri R.B. Sahu, who has devoted his best labour to complete the type work in short span of time.
