ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It gives me great pleasure to submit this doctoral thesis, the end product of a major academic venture taken up by me. Besides, the will of God many mortal minds, hearts and hands have gone into making this presentation a physical reality and to all of them I express my heartfelt thanks. The list of such persons is perhaps as extensive as is my debt of gratitude.

However, some of the persons to whom I would like to express my specific thanks are first and foremost my respected guide Dr. Ram Sable, Reader, Department of Commerce, S.N.D.T. Women’s University for his valuable and constant guidance and help which has enabled me to complete this study. It has been my privilege and pleasure to work under his expert supervision.

I am also grateful to Dr. Kaptan, Head of the Department of Commerce, S.N.D.T. Women’s University, for the whole-hearted co-operation extended to me during my Ph.D. course.

My sincere thanks to Dr. G.Y. Shitole Reader, Department of Commerce, S.N.D.T. Women’s University for his valuable and timely suggestions.

I take this opportunity to express my acknowledgement to Principal Dr. T.A. Shiware, Vice-Principal Mrs. C. Natarajan and members of the teaching and non-teaching staff of K.P.B. Hinduja College of Commerce where I teach, for their co-operation during the period of my study.

I am thankful to the librarian Mrs. N Navani and the library staff of K.P. B. Hinduja College of Commerce for providing me with an inexhaustible wealth of periodicals, magazines and reference books at my disposal. I sincerely thank all the respondents to whom I administered the questionnaire and with whom I had the opportunity to interact. I am indebted to the busy entrepreneurs who have very patiently endured hours of my questioning and have been sincere in their responses.

Many thanks to Mr. Sudhir Kale, Technical Assistant of Computer centre of TISS (Tata Institute of Social Science) who helped me with the tedious and lengthy work of coding on computer. I would like to express my thanks to Mrs. Seemanthivi Dalvi, Dr (Mrs.) A. Narayanan, Mrs. J. Shetty, Mrs. C. Joshi, Mrs. S. Bhatia and several other friends for helping me by providing me with necessary data.

I am thankful to S.N.D.T. Women’s University Library (Marine Lines) and Jawaharlal Nehru Library, University of Mumbai for providing resource material and library facilities.

A very important driving force through this period of work has been my mother. No words would suffice to express my heartiest debt of gratitude to her. She has been a great source of inspiration in my academic pursuits. Her sustained encouragement and invaluable guidance made it possible for me to fulfill this challenging and uphill task.

I wish to express my heartfelt thanks to my mother, Smt. N. Rajamma and my brother Mr. Prasad Muni whose patience and understanding facilitated the completion of this study. Many thanks are also due to my nephew Mr. Rajiv R Madidi for the assistance offered by way of typing and proof-reading of my thesis.

I would be failing in my duty if I did not thank my colleague and friend Mrs. Ishrat Ali Lalljee for her unflinching support during the editing of my synopsis and thesis.

Maybe a name or two of some friends or well-wisher has been inadvertently missed out. My apologies for the same and gratitude nonetheless.
