BIBLIOGRAPHY
BIBLIOGRAPHY

Goff JS, Two stage triolein breath test differentiates pancreatic insufficiency from other causes of malabsorption. Gastroenterology 1982; 83: 44.

Hickey MS, Weavos KG: Nutritional management of patients with ARC or AIDS. Gastroenterol Clin North Amer, 1988; 17: 545-561.

Lantz B and N. Einhorn: Intestinal damage and malabsorption after treatment... for cervical carcinoma. Acta Radiologica Oncology, 1984; 23: 1.

Mac Gregory IL, Moutin MS and Mayer JH: Gastric emptying of solid food in normal man and after subtotal gastrectomy and truncal vagotomy with pyloroplasty enterology. 1977; 72: 618.

Robert M, Ingrom: The definitive "Gold Standard" test with which to establish the diagnosis of malabsorption in the quantitative determination of fecal fat in stool malabsorption. Post graduate Medicine, 1987; 81(7), May 13.

Tillman RT, King CE, and Dosker PP: Continued experience with the xylose breath test. Evidence that the small bowel culture as the gold standard for bacterial overgrowth may be furnished. Gastroenterology, 1981; 80: 1304.

Walther B, Clementsson C, Vallgreen S, Ich SE I and Akesson B: Fat malabsorption in patients before and after total gastrectomy studied by the trioleine breath test. a Carreras et al.

Weiss RL and Styker JA: C-lactose breath tests during pelvic radiotherapy the effect of the amount of small bowel irradiated radiology, 1982; 142:507.

