REFERENCES
REFERENCES

Ganesan, V. Genital Muscular Relaxation Technique. Unpublished Research paper. Coimbatore: Bharathiar University,

Kline, R. The relation of alcohol expectancies to drinking pattern among alcoholics, generalization across gender and race. Quarterly Journal of studies on Alcohol, 1990 51(2) 175 - 82.

Likert, R. Technique for the measurement of attitude scales; Archives of Psychology, New York, 1932.

Mathew, V.G. Manual of Mathew Maladjustment Inventory, Department of Psychology, University of Kerala, 1975.

Mc Gann, K.P. Self reported illness in family member of alcoholics. Family Medicine, 1990, 22(2) 103 - 6.

Ormord, J. and Budd, R. A comparison of two treatment interventions aimed at lowering anxiety levels and alcohol consumption amongst alcohol abuses. Drug and Alcohol Dependency. 1991, 27 (3) 233-43.

Rao, R.S.K. The conception of stress in Indian thought: The practical involvement in Gita and Ayurveda: NIMHANS Journal, 1983 (b) 1, 123-131.

Rao, R.S.K. The conception of stress in Indian thought: The theoretical aspects of stress in Samkhaya and Yoga systems. NIMHANS Journal, 1983, 115-121 (a) Schweiger, A. Alcohol Abuse ever-earlier, ever more frequent, Fortschr Medicine (cited from) Medical document of NIC, 1996 26 OF 18.

Strayer, R. Social Integration of Alcoholics through to prolonged group therapy. Quarterly journal of studies an alcohol

Wilson, G.T., Leaf, R.C. and Nathan, P.E. The effect of imaginal aversive conditioning on excessive drinking by chronic

