ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Although feelings and emotions can not be expressed merely in words; but still I take this opportunity to show my great indebtedness to Dr. S.K. Tripathi, Reader, Department of Economics, Pt. Jawahar Lal Nehru College, Banda, Bundelkhand University for his continuous guidance and help during the entire research work. His meticulous approach, blessings and support helped me to continue my efforts in the right direction and thus completing my research work. I place it on record that only with the help of his sincere advice and his valuable suggestions, the present research work was completed and saw the light of the day.

I am grateful to Dr. Jitendra Kumar Hajela, D. Phil (Economics), Faculty member in Humanities, Kamla Nehru Institute of Technology, Sultanpur, who was liberal enough to make available all the journals and books at my disposal which helped me a lot in my research work. I further take this privilege to thank Shri Sameer Shrivastava, Lecturer, Kamla Nehru Institute of Technology, Sultanpur, for helping me in availing KNIT Library facilities.

I extend my special thanks to Giri Institute of Development Studies, Lucknow, where from valuable data was collected which forms a major part of this thesis.

I am grateful to Er. P.R. Rai, Executive Engineer, R.E.S., who inspite of his busy schedule took great pains in approaching the authorities of State Planning Institute, Lucknow, in person, thus making available the various statistical bulletins, statatistical diaries, annual plans and statistical abstracts etc., the data of which forms the backbone of this research work.

I am highly obliged to Shri Shashi Shekhar Srivastava and other staff of Tulsi Gramin Bank, Banda, especially the Accounts people, who not only helped me in making available the various data pertaining to Tulsi Gramin Bank and various schemes implemented by the bank but also sparing their valuable time. Further, I would like to thank the staff of Allahabad Bank, Banda for their kind cooperation.

I would like to mention my gratefulness towards my uncle Shri C.M. Srivastava, Asstt. Development Officer, Banda and Shri Vijay Ratan Lal Srivastava, Advocate, Banda who helped me at all occasions during my research work at Banda. Further, I express my thanks to Shri G.S. Srivastava, Asstt. Commissioner (Sales Tax) and his family members for their cooperation during my research work at Lucknow.

Though it is a purely family affair, I must mention the special contribution in terms of blessings, physical and emotional support given by my father in law; Shri S. P.
Srivastava, mother in law; Smt. Mithlesh Srivastava and my mother Smt. Vidyottama Srivastava. I am also thankful to my brother Er. Sanjay, Asstt. Engineer (P.W.D), my brother in laws Shri RP Srivastava and Shri SP Srivastava, Asstt. Manager, Punjab and Sind Bank, for their efforts and contribution. My acknowledgements will be incomplete if I do not mention the virtual support given by my daughter Medha, who bore the agonies of being away from her mother at a tender age of three years.

Alongwith all above, I would like to thank Shri Kausar Ali, Steno - Typist, BHEL Jagdishpur, who made it possible to transform an idea into reality by typing the manuscript quickly and as per requirements of the research work.

Last but not the least, I wish to express a very special sense of gratitude to my husband, Er. J.P. Srivastava, Dy. Manager, BHEL, Jagdishpur, for generating in me a perennial interest in higher studies and the intellectual and spiritual cooperation given by him, without which it would not have been possible for me to complete this voluminous work. He has shared with me both the pleasures and the strains of this research and any words will be insufficient to express my feelings for him.

Department of Economics
Pt. JawaharLal Nehru College,
Banda.
March 1996