CONTENTS

List of Tables

List of Diagrams and Charts

Preface 1

Chapter - I Outline of the study 7

Chapter - II Nursing as a profession

The role of woman 20
The nurse : Next in importance to Doctor 22
Special Features of the Nursing Profession 25
ILO contribution 27
State Nursing Services in Maharashtra 32
Government Hospitals in Poona 35
The regulations in Maharashtra 39

Chapter - III Analysis of the composition of the nursing personnel in government hospitals in Poona

The nursing staff employed in government hospitals in Poona in 1977-78 85
Age-group and designations 86
Domination of women 88
Religion 89
Marital status 91
Mother tongue 93
Educational status 93
Domicile 94
Occupational history 97
Experience on the present job 99
Why do they work 100
Chapter - IV

Working conditions of the Government Nursing Personnel in Poona - Part I

Direct relationship between working conditions and morale

Determinants of job satisfaction

A) Hours of Work

a) Total hours of duty
b) Travelling time
c) Overtime
d) The work-schedule
e) Night-duty
f) Hours spent in domestic work, leisure time available and leisure time activities
g) Rest intervals and resting facilities
h) Holidays, leave etc.
i) Mohite Committee and nurses' hours of work
j) International standards as regards hours of work for nurses

B) Supervision

a) Role of supervision in determining the morale
b) Existing supervisory behaviour
c) Decision-making

C) The work group

a) Role of the work group in determining the job attitude of its members
b) The present situation as regards opportunity of interaction, similarity of attitudes, acceptance by fellow workers, goal inter-depence etc.
D) Job Content

a) Importance of job content as a determinant of employee-morale 143
b) The number and nature of functions involved in a job 144
c) Level or status of the employee 145
d) Specialisation 148
e) Control over work-method and control over work-pace 153
f) Full scope to use skills and abilities 155

E) Wages

a) Most frequent and powerful source of job-dissatisfaction 155
b) Salaries; The only source of income for nurses 159
c) Savings and investments of nurses 161
d) Provident Fund 162
e) Perquisites received by nurses 162
f) Nurses' expectations 164
g) Mohite Committee and the remuneration of nurses 168
h) International standards as regards nurses' pay 169

F) Promotional opportunities

a) Promotion; an excellent motivational factor 171
b) Scarcity of promotional opportunities and its reasons 172
c) Mohite Committee and promotional opportunities for nurses 177
d) International standards as regards promotional opportunities for nursing personnel 178
e) Transfer and the problems related to it 182
Chapter V   Working conditions of the Government Nursing Personnel in Poona - Part II

G) Job Security
   a) Security : the most important aspect of a work-role for a common employee 191
   b) Confirmation 192

H) Opportunity of making collective bargaining/efforts
   a) Collective bargaining upholds the democratic principles 193
   b) War or peace ? 194
   c) International standards in respect of opportunities of collective bargaining to nurses 197
   d) Nurses' unions 200

I) Guidance from the superiors
   a) Special importance of guidance from the superiors in the field of nursing 206
   b) Present situation 207

J) Communication
   a) Role of communication in determining morale of the employees 208
   b) Present situation 209
   c) Heavy reliance on the knowledge gained through education and training 212
   d) International standards as regards education and training of the nurses 217
   e) Mohite Committee and nurses' education and training 225

K) Delegation of authority
   a) Importance of delegation as a determinant of job satisfaction 225
   b) Authority, responsibility and accountability in a nursing organisation 226 L) Physical facilities at the work-place
   a) Lighting and ventilation 231
   b) Cleanliness 232
   c) Layout of the departments 232
   d) Rest rooms, messing facilities, sanitary blocks etc. 233
   e) Mohite Committee and physical facilities at the hospital 234

M) Occupational health protection
   a) Special importance of occupational health protection in the field of nursing 235
   b) Mohite Committee's suggestions 238
   c) International standards as regards nurses' health protection 238

N) Welfare facilities 244

O) Balanced organisational set-up 247

Chapter - VI Living conditions of the Nursing Community

Need for the study of the living conditions 251

Families of the nurses 254
   a) Family type and size 254
   b) Head of the family 257
   c) Family members : age group and educational status 258
   d) Family members : occupational status and income 259
   e) General economic position of a nurse's family 260
   f) Information regarding children born etc. 263
Chapter VII
Housing and home-life

a) Added responsibilities of a working housewife in a city
b) Living area and no.of rooms in the houses of nurses
c) Facilities regarding water taps, latrines and bathrooms in the houses of nurses
d) Household work, child-care and other related problems

Chapter VII
Improvement of nursing services and nursing education in the State of Maharashtra: Salient features and observations

A) Nursing education and the recommendations pertaining to it :-

a) Courses in nursing education
b) Selection of the students
c) The course contents
d) Physical facilities
e) Hostel facilities
f) Mess facilities
g) Examination system
h) Agreeable recommendations

B) Nursing services and the recommendations pertaining to it :-

a) Working conditions
b) Living conditions
c) Administration and organisation
d) Miscellaneous
e) Agreeable recommendations

C) Effective organisation

Chapter VIII
The new deal for nurses

Bibliography -
Books
Articles

---x---