ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I subscribe to the famous Hudson Maxim that “All progress is born of inquiry. Doubt is often better than overconfidence, for it leads to inquiry and inquiry leads to invention”

I affirm Martin Luther King’s view that “Faith is taking the first step even when you don’t see the whole staircase”

I concur with Aristotle that “the Sacrifice of Education is bitter but its fruits are sweeter”

I sincerely acknowledge the power, majesty, splendour, awesome help, support and divine intervention of Jesus Christ son of the living God without whose help, this work could have been an exercise in futility. To him alone, be all glory, honour, power and praise forever and ever.

I place on record my utmost admiration, most sincere and heartfelt appreciation for the Convenor, VC Officiating Committee, Dr. S Kaliyamoorthy who doubles as the Chairperson School of Management, the Director of Alagappa Institute of Management, and Syndicate Member. It was under his watch that the completion of this program has finally seen the light of day. I bestow all the respect and gratitude upon him.

Dr. V. Manickavasagam, the Registrar was always readily available and willing to assist. I sincerely do appreciate and thank him for the timely assistance he rendered to remove every obstacle which threatened to scuttle this work.

I will ever be grateful to my very able guide and supervisor Dr. K. Chandrasekar, the Assistant Professor-cum-Placement Officer, Alagappa Institute of Management, Alagappa University for his unwavering support, intuitive counsel, and availability even during some of most challenging moments that threatened to short circuit my endeavours.
His insight and foresight has catapulted me to greater realm of success in this particular research work.

I will treasure for many years to come the rare warmth, open handedness and positive gesture I received from the heart of Dr. S. Karuthapandian, Syndicate Member and Dr. P. Manisankar, the Dean-Research for ensuring that the administrative prospects and aspects of submission of this document is accomplished.

I acknowledge the deep-seated personal concern and affection showed to me by Faculty members of Alagappa Institute of Management, Dr.S.Rajamohan, Dr.S.Chandramohan, Dr.V.Sivakumar, Mr.G. Ilankumaran, Mrs. M. AyishaMillath, Dr. P.S. Nagarajan and Mrs. S. Sudhamathi. They have extended a rare relational attitude which not only gave me a real sense of belonging but also made me feel part and parcel of the Institute. I thank them for being supportive to me in succeeding this work.

My beloved wife Joyce Ogutu is the most honourable among women, a wife of a noble character whose worth is far more than Rubies. I have full confidence in her. She has been the emotional brain- trust of my success in this demanding task. She defied the strong- head winds, dared the raging storms of life which threatened to route our family while I was a way. Joyce fits in the hall of fame and has earned her place in the annals of history as a woman who passed the test of patience and faithfulness in my absence. She worked extra hard and not only supported me but raised our children from the proceeds of her labour. I cannot thank you enough my queen.

I owe my daughter Ruby E. Ogutu gratitude for enduring so much stress caused by my long absence and thank her in equal measure for not losing focus. The girl worked even harder in school and drew even closer to Jesus while I was away. I am so amazed at what God can do with a young girl who acknowledges Jesus as Lord and saviour.
My son Ken H. Ogutu put a brave fight as a young man along the path of patience in spite of so much hollowness and emptiness occasioned by my being away for an extended period of time. Nevertheless, he remained calm and hopeful. Ken is one young man who is so patient yet passionate about life and leaves nothing to chance. Jude J. Ogutu, my last born son was indeed very young when I left and but he too, just like his siblings learned survival techniques of how to cope without his dad. He is a “go getter personality” In a nutshell, I have a reason to celebrate the patience of my children and the nature of Christ in them.

Finding words to adequately describe the monumental levels of support I received from Dr. Habil Slade Okumu Ogalo, Senior faculty at Arab Open University, in the Kingdom of Bahrain is nigh (impossible). He sacrificed his own comfort and that of his family not just once or twice but again and again to ensure I did not get stuck with research because of finances. Other than consistent support, Slade was very instrumental in talking me in to Ph.D. I find his labour of love incomparable and invaluable. He is man of his words and after the heart of Christ. Only God can pay you back what you did to me. In the same vein I would be very unfair not to incorporate Norah Ogalo, a lady of unique pedigree. She is just like her husband Slade Habil, a giver and exceptionally relational. I am so overwhelmed by the God kind of love you showed me despite geographical distance, which kept us far apart, yet we were so close. Jebeglor (Jesus be glorified), your beloved son is very much included in your great deeds. I salute him. May the almighty God bless the Ogalos’ so extravagantly.

Erastus Kwaka Omolo came to my rescue when financial winds tossed my research boat to near capsizing. I do not find the right words to express my most heartfelt gratitude to the sacrificial help you extended to me at the most challenging and crucial time of this program. He did not give up on me in terms of material and emotional support. I am deeply indebted to this great man. May God enrich you even more in every dimension.

Cosmas Ngeso cannot be forgotten at all. He handed in a brand new HP laptop with all its accessories! at the time when I was launching out. He believed in me when few did. May the almighty God richly bless him.

I am sincerely indebted to Dr. Norah A. Odingo, Department of General Dentistry at Stony Brook University, New York. She did not hold back from extending a hand of fellowship at a time of global recession when a dime was hard to come by and those in the US were economically hit right below the belt. Norah went out of her way to assist me. It is my sincere prayer that God will come through for you in every way. Thanks a million.

My brother Philip Omesa Momanyi was of a lot of help to me both morally and materially, I want to say a big thank you to him and my sis Tabitha Omesa

I owe an immense debt of gratitude in acknowledging the support I received from Infant Jesus and Jesus vineyard Hospitals, Madurai. Dr. (Mrs) Indra Raja was always at hand and willing to give me food, cash and showed me the love of Christ at a time when I was in great need words would fail me with which to express my most sincere appreciation. Dr. Paten Raja stood with me like a rock in giving and kindness. I respect and admire the love of Christ in you. I cannot assume the kind support from Dr. (Mrs.) Priya Paten. I am at a loss of the right vocabulary to employ in thanking Dr. (Mrs.) Chalice Mayo for the positive attitude with which you would relate to me. In your own unique way you showed unfeigned concern about my well fare. May God bless so extravagantly. I cannot forget to appreciate Juan, Petrina and Pedro. God bless you all.

Not so many people on the planet earth can do what Dr. (Mrs.) Rupa and Her Husband Ravi Kumar allowed God to use them to do to me. I sincerely cannot thank you enough. I sincerely pray that God, in His wisdom and mercy bless you like he blessed Jabez, so extravagantly.

A word spoken in season and from a honest heart is worth much more than millions of dollars, a timely advice given to me by Dr. Damary A.O Sikalieh, Associate Dean Chandaria School of Business, at the United States International University, Africa still rings so very loudly in my ears. She is one of those people whom God used to encourage me and at a time when my university teaching career was in limbo. Thank you so very much for talking me into PhD. I can now vouch I made the best decision courtesy of your timely advise.

I salute Henry Nyang’or for sacrificially supporting me when I began the long journey of my PhD. May God richly bless Alice Nyang’or for buying in to my vision. I treasure so very dearly the hand of fellowship extended to me by Ben and June Nyang’or, May the Almighty God bless you so extravagantly. Grace Nyang’or has never turned her back on me in all my endeavours. I sincerely want to acknowledge your consistent love and support to me over the years.

Dr. Alex Fares, was very enthusiastic when I approached him for support. He spoke words of encouragement which lifted me up so very much at a time when I so desperately needed somebody to encourage me. I do appreciate his support.

Richard Gowi is one of those true friends indeed and in need who never gave up on me. He did not stop his support. He continued even after I left home. I am so indebted to him.

No act of kindness, however small, is in vain. Reason enough to place on record the timely support I received from Betty Kwoko all the way from Dar-es- salaam. May God zero in on her and shower her with mercy, grace and favour on account of her generosity.
I most sincerely love to thank Jackie Ojiambo of Wells book store Nairobi for sacrificially forfeiting her own comfort and personal needs to support me. Thank you so very much Jackie. While I may not mention each and every one by name, I cannot belittle the contribution made by Tower of Strength fraternity for their support. May God richly bless you.

I sincerely want to thank Rev. Manoharan Dhanapaul and his dear wife Sis. Sylvia and son Jim Raegan, for being so good to me. May God shower His divine blessings upon your family. Carolyne Adisa of Lakeport Califonia deserves the appreciation and gratitude for allowing God to use her and her husband to be a source of encouragement.

Maureen Shileche of Oxford Brookes University, U.K is a candidate for God’s favour in as much as she was willing to sacrificially support me towards the completion of this noble course. I am indeed so grateful to her.

I reserve an enormous gratitude my late father Ogutu Omango Oke’gOracha! He could have felt so proud had such achievement been made in his life time.

My late mother Esther ny’ Okumu, the prayer worrior did not pray for me in vain! It is because of her prayers and blessings that I am thriving on to date. sleep in peace nyar gi Anyango. You were such a rare personality and a woman of stubborn faith.

Dr. G. Sivanesan of Jamal Institute of Management, Jamal Mohammed College, Tiruchirappalli deserves my special gratitude and appreciation. He is the SPSS expert whose contribution made the technical aspect of this document see the light of day. I owe him the most heartfelt gratitude. I am so grateful to G- LazerNet, Tiruchirappalli staff for the typing, formatting and printing work.

Sri S.S. Book Binders did a commendable job. Thank you so very much.
