ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am greatly indebted to my guide Dr. Rose Mary A., Assistant Professor and Head, Department of Linguistics, University of Kerala, whose unfailing interest in my work throughout have always been a source of constant inspiration and encouragement to me. Her sincere involvement, valuable suggestions and guidance made me to complete this thesis.

I owe a special debt of gratitude to Dr. N. Rajendran, Professor Emeritus, Department of Linguistics, University of Kerala who helped me through his valuable suggestions for the completion of this work.

I also express my sincere gratitude to Dr. S. Radhakrishnan, Dr. S. Kunjamma, Dr. A.M. Marykutti, and Dr. S. A. Shanavas who encouraged and helped me in the various stages of this work. I am very thankful to the Librarian, Department of Linguistics, University of Kerala for helping me to find out books regarding the subject throughout the research period. I am grateful to technical staffs of the Department for their help by providing the internet facility, computer and all. I thank all the office staff of the Department for providing me all the help during the research time till the submission of the thesis.

I extend my sincere thanks to the teachers and staff of the Department of Psychology for their help during the development of this thesis.
I am very much grateful to Dr. S.R. Savithri, the Director, AIISH, Mysore for giving me all the helps for the successful completion of this work. I am obliged to Dr. Y.V Geetha, HOD, Department of Speech and language sciences, AIISH, Mysore for providing me all help from the date of my joining in AIISH. I am greatly indebted to Dr. K. S. Prema, Prof. of Language pathology whose invaluable suggestions and constant spirit encouraged me to complete this work. I extend my gratitude to the staff and colleagues of All India Institute of Speech and Hearing for their help and encouragement for the successful completion of this study. I express my sincere thanks to the library staff of AIISH for availing me the library facilities.

I owe a deep sense of gratitude to Dr. V. Saratchandran Nair, Principal, Southern Regional Language Center, CIIL, Mysore, for his constant encouragement and help for the successful completion of this work. I am very thankful to the librarians and the staff of Libraries of Central Institute of Indian Languages and Southern Regional Language Centre, Mysore for availing me thousands of linguistic books which enlightened me with its vast knowledge. I am indebted to my colleagues in CIIL for their constant support, encouragement and valuable suggestions given for me.

I express my thanks to the librarian and staff of various libraries I visited during my research time, especially, the University Library, Trivandrum; Public library; Campus library, Karyavattom campus; Psychology Department library; British library; International School of Dravidian Linguistics, Thiruvananthapuram; Annamalai University; Dharward University, Dharward, Karnataka and various other Universities.

Many of my colleagues and friends of Southern Regional Language Center and Central Institute of Indian Languages, Mysore have helped me in various ways in preparing this thesis. I am grateful to all of them, and in particular, to Dr. Vijayalakshmi A. Patel, Guest Lecturer in Kannada; Mr. Ramesh Bhushan, Guest Lecturer in Telugu; Dr. Thirunavakkarasu, Guest Lecturer in Tamil; Mr. K.S. Venkatesan, Programmer; Ms. Sudha patak and Mrs. Radhamony, SRLC, CIIL, Mysore. Dr. Darwin L., Mr. Winston Cruise, Dr. Geetha, Mr. Santhosh Panayal, NTM, and Ms. Vidya, LIS-INDIA Project, CIIL, Mysore.

I acknowledge my sincere thanks to Principal, teachers, Librarian and other staff of State Institute for the Mentally Handicapped (SIMH), Pangappara, Thiruvananthapuram for giving me all the helps for data collection and the elaboration of the work. They helped me a lot with a pleasant approach from starting to the end stage of the work especially in selecting the cases, introducing them and making familiar while assessment and data collection.

I express my heartfelt gratitude to the ten children who were cooperative and affective to me during my data collection without whose help, I can not even think of completing my work. In spite of all the limitations they have, they were very much attentive and cooperative with me. I record my thanks, prayers and wishes for them. The parents, teachers, and children, who gave valuable information deserves special thanks.

Personal obligations are to all of my friends for their support and suggestions at various stages of my work, especially Remya, Gopika, Suma, Arun, Krishna kumar, Kumar, Parvathi, Meenu, Aju, Biju, Balu and many others. I am very thankful to all my friends in Mysore, Mani, Susan, Uma, Bhuvana, Aruna, Valarmathi and shabin for their encouragement and support given to me to complete this work. I am grateful to Mr. Antony, Ms. Mahalekshmiprasad and Pramoda for their suggestions and encouragement given to me. I am obliged to my friends Sudev and Indu for their constant support and encouragement throughout this time which inspired me to complete this work.

The patience and encouragement shown by my mother, K. Indiraamma, my father K. Krishnan Nair, sister Sreeja, her husband Renjith and children Krishna and Vishnu and all my relatives, had acted as a powerful motivator to me to complete this work. I record my heartfelt thanks to all of them. I am very much affectionate with my Krishna; she is the one who inspired me with her innocent love and babbling talk. My sincere love and care for her. Missing her smile.

I am greatly indebted to Adv.Rajesh, my husband, rather my friend who taught me what is life and his immense support, care and encouragement which enlightened me in this way. It is because of him that I could complete this work now. Whatever in my life, may be a smile because of a happy moment, or a cry because of an utter agony, he is the reason, I should say, each and every moment in my life happens because of him. I extend my thanks to his family members for their support and affection.

With a bowing head, I thank God for everything.

SMITHA K. NAIR