ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Right at the beginning, the name which deserves special mention is my supervisor Prof. Kandarpa Das, Director, IDOL, Gauhati University who provided me the opportunity to carry out the present study. He inspired my initial interest in Magical Realism and in the novel The Master and Margarita. With his characteristic kindness, he guided and encouraged me throughout my research work. Without his contribution this thesis would never have been completed within the stipulated time.

I am grateful to Prof. Gulab Jha, Department of Foreign Languages, Gauhati University who generously shared his insights with me on the topic of my study.

I am thankful to Dr. Hitesh Deka, Former Principal, K. C. Das Commerce College for his words of encouragement.

Warm thanks are also due to Dr. Homeswar Kalita, Principal, K. C. Das Commerce College, former Principal(i/c) of the same college Dr. Swabera Islam, my friends and colleagues, especially Mrs. Prarthana Barua, HOD, Department of English, K. C. Das Commerce College for their valuable suggestions and encouragement.

Mention must be made of Mr. Apurba Haloi, Mr. Jitumoni Borah, and Mr. Hirajyoti Sarma for their technical support and sincere co-operation. It is Apurba Haloi who saw me through the computer work and toiled ceaselessly to put the finishing touches on the final copy of the thesis.
I record my gratitude to the Librarians and staff of Krishnakanta Handiqui Library, Gauhati University, Library of IDOL (Gauhati University), National Library (Kolkata), NEHU Central Library, and K. C. Das Commerce College Library for extending me all the facilities available there. Without their help this literary survey would not have been possible.

At the most personal level, I owe to all my family members who were ready to lend helping hand at any hour, in spite of their busy schedules.
