I earnestly acknowledge my special thanks and reverence to my distinguished and esteemed guide, Prof. Anup Sud, Department of Psychology, Himachal Pradesh University, without whose valuable direction, expert guidance and constant inspiration this task would not have been completed.

I am also thankful to Prof. D.K. Malhotra (Retd.) former chairperson, Department of Psychology for their invaluable help and guidance in factor analysis.

I am extremely grateful and beholden to Prof. O.P. Monga, Department of Sociology, and Dr. Yashwant Gupta, Management Studies, Himachal Pradesh University, for providing help in data collection.

This research would not have been possible without the unequivocal cooperation of heads and respondents of all the departments (Himachal Pradesh University) who actively helped and willingly participated in it.

I owe special gratitude to the whole staff of Psychology Department, Himachal Pradesh University, Shimla for their help in various phases of my work.

My special thanks go to my friends Ms. Shubhra Sharma and Mr. Nitin Sharma who constantly helped me throughout my Ph.D. work.

A person is fallible, so am I, and thus, some names may have been omitted because of some unknown reasons beyond my control, who helped me in my work. Therefore I extend my sincerest, honest, and grateful thanks to them also.

At the end, words fail to express my debt towards my loving parents Mrs. Rani Monga and Mr. Jaswant Monga whom I behold in highest esteem.
