ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I do not have the treasure of words which are competent enough in expressing my sincere and heartfelt gratitude to Dr. M.N. Khare, Ph.D., (Illinois, U.S.A.), I.P.S.I., F.N.A.Sc., senior scientist, J.N. Agriculture University (Jabalpur) who has taken pains in guiding me for the completion of this investigation, constructive criticism and constant encouragement during the course of studies.

It is my unique privilege and duty to express my sincere thanks to Dr. S.T. Ahmad, senior scientist plant pathologist, Indian Grassland and Fodder Research Institute, Jhansi for his undefined cooperation and for providing necessary facilities and valuable suggestions in completing the thesis.

I also wish to express my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. W.U. Malik, D.Sc., Ex-Founder Vice Chancellor, Bundelkhand University who bestowed his blessings by providing this facility to me to get myself enrolled as a research scholar in this university as a teacher candidate where post-graduate teaching is the subject.
did not exist. Dr. Kalik not only provided this opportunity to me but it was he who formulated this policy of enrolment of the teachers of this university for Ph.D. degree for the first time in its history. The teachers' community shall ever remain indebted to this great educationist and a very faithful academician in its true sense.

I am also greatly indebted to my revered teachers of B.A. College, Agra especially to Dr. Bahadur Singh, late Dr. U.P. Singh and Dr. C.N. Chaturvedi, Head of Botany Department, whose blessings have been a perpetual source of strength and inspiration in my educational career.

My cordial thanks are also due to Dr. U.P. Agarwal, Prof. and Head of Botany Department, University of Jabalpur, M.P., for his efforts to provide this opportunity to me and for his encouragement during the course of research.

I owe an encompassing debt to my respected father and members of family especially my uncles whose filial affection, encouragement and blessings have ever been a beacon of light for me in all my undertakings.
I am also thankful to Mr. A.K. Chacko and Mr. Pradeep Saxena and his colleagues who have been quite helpful in making the venture a success.

My heartful thanks also go to Mr. D.B. Gupta, principal, my colleagues of the college and other friends for their unfailing cooperation in completing this work.

Bipin Pahari College,
Jhansi.

A.K. Agarwal