ACKNOLEDGEMENT

“My sight could reach so far into universe because I am sitting on the shoulders of my predecessors.”

Dr. Albert Einstein

Above quotation by Dr. Albert Einstein very well expresses his sentiments that the success of an individual lays much on his predecessors and many others.

My present research also bears direct and indirect support of many individuals. The first and foremost is extremely versatile researcher in education and vice chancellor of Children’s University, Gandhinagar, Dr. Kantibhai S. Likhya Sir. Without his constant support and guidance, this research might not have got its shape. From the selection of research topic to its final outcome, he has guided, supported and facilitated this research to great extent. I am grateful to his patience, on the spot support and timely guidance throughout this research. I am also thankful to former HOD of Department of Education, Dr. Maheshchandra Yagnik Sir, other faculties and non-teaching staff of the Department. An experiment design and research tool is the backbone of any experimental research. For this task I heartily extend my gratitude to the distinguished professor of M. B. Patel College of Education, Dr. Nipaben D. Bharucha and my teacher friends, Mr. Parth Mehta and Pravin Barot. I am also thankful to Dr. Agnel Roy for his constant support in translation and always keeping me up with his motivational talk.

How could I overlook the most essential personalities in my life without whose support, I might not have been as I am? I would love to take this opportunity to extend my thanks to my wife Krupa and my parents for always creating a space and nurture my innermost desires. This thesis stands testimony of their countless prayers bestowed upon me. I would like to thank principals and staff members of schools for all their everlasting support, assistance, cooperation and facilities during the experiment. I am also thankful to the students for their always take it as it comes attitude during the experiment. Two most important personalities of my life without whose blessings none of the above task could see its completion are my spiritual guru, His holiness Pramukhswami Maharaj and God Swaminarayan. I shall always owe my life and work to their blessings.
