Acknowledgement

First and foremost, I would like to thank my loving Creator for making me a curious being who loves to explore and for giving me the opportunity to write this thesis. Without Him, I can do nothing.

To me this acknowledgement presents not only a ceremonial but an opportunity to voice my gratitude for all those who have lent helping hands to culminate this task. Carrying out the requisite work and then writing this thesis was, undoubtedly, the most arduous task I have undertaken. However, one of the joys of having completed the thesis is looking back at everyone who has helped me over the past two years.

It exceeds my bliss height in expressing my deep sense of gratitude to Prof. Madhu Gupta, Department of Education, Maharshi Dayanand University Rohtak for her constant encouragement, painstaking self denying interest and perpetual guidance. She provided a safe space for me to explore the new world of being a doctoral candidate, provided insightful feedback whenever it was required. Her unflinching courage and conviction always inspire me; she has also provided insightful discussions about the research. Words are not sufficient to pay my regards to her, so I simply say thanks for her entire endeavour.

I attribute my sincere regards to Professor Hemant Lata Sharma, Head and Dean, Faculty of Education, M.D.U., Rohtak for her tremendous support and incredible encouragement to pursue this research. I would like to convey my sincere thanks to Indira Dhull Professor, Department of Education, and Dean College Development Council for her valuable suggestions. My sincere thanks to A.K. Kalia, Professor, Department of Education, M.D.U., Rohtak for their extensive discussions around my work.
Words are insufficient to praise the total support of my dear friends Dr. Pooja Pasrija, Dr. Nidhi Kakkar, Ms. Rakhi Sindhwani, Ms. Pariksha, Ms. Preeti Dahiya and Parveshlata who play instrumental in successful completion of this task. I acknowledge my principal Dr. A. K. Saraswat and my colleagues Dr. Manju Jain, Dr. Taruna Malhotra and Dr. Madhu Sahni for their cooperation. Grateful acknowledgement is extended to the principals of all the schools, class teachers and other staff members of the schools for their kind cooperation in carrying out the experiment.

Though I have indebted to many people for their help and advice but the chief contributors undoubtedly my parents. The entire work bears the stamps of thinking, forbearance, understanding, affection and sacrifice of my beloved mother and father. I love them so much, and I would not have made it this far without them who lifted me uphill this phase of life. I owe everything to them.

I have proud to say that I have brother like, Homesh and Sisters Rashmi & Bhawna who always encourage me and it is only their love and affection which always motivate me to work hard and opt a never give up approach in life.

Panshul (Nannu), the “little” support system... There is nothing like the innocent face of a sleeping child to bring out the strongest determination to succeed. It was his magic that pulled me out of many intervals of hard knocks.

Lastly, I wish to offer my heartfelt thanks to all those whose names could not be included, but will be fondly remembered.

Jyoti
