ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

A journey of a thousand miles begins with a push from those who want you to venture down the right path. I have been blessed with those who care enough to push me. Many wonderful people have contributed to this work and must be thanked for their part in its completion.

At the outset, I commit to the record my sincere thanks and appreciation to my research supervisor, Prof. Hemant Lata Sharma, Head & Dean, Faculty of Education who has served as a wonderful and exuberant mentor throughout. Her commitment and work ethics serve as role model for students and faculty wanting to succeed in the role of academic supervisor. I appreciate all of her patience, time, effort and motherly affection as I traversed this path. Madam, you have been a role model throughout this program and have instilled in me a great sense of confidence and hope about my future as a dedicated and committed teacher. Thanks for giving me the opportunity to spread my wings and for making me believe I could do anything and for believing in everything I do. Your belief in me has been unfailing and constant. You push your students to be the best that they can be. Your positive words of encouragement gave me the necessary strength to see this thesis to its conclusion. You have been with me every step of the way, always by my side. Thank You, Mam!

I am also thankful to my respected teachers Prof. Indira Dhull, Prof. A.K. Kalia and Prof. Madhu Gupta, Department of Education, M.D.U. Rohtak, for being a constant source of encouragement, support, invaluable suggestions and inspiration during my research work. I am thankful to other teaching, non-teaching staff and research scholars in the Department of Education, M.D.U. Rohtak for their co-operation and guidance during the course of my study.

I am greatly indebted to all the participants from Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra, Maharshi Dayanand University, Rohtak and Chaudhary Devi Lal University, Sirsa who put their valuable time and effort in providing necessary information required for the study. Without their co-operation, the study would have not been completed.

Now, I owe much of what I have been accomplished to one who is closest to me, my husband, Dr. Ajmer Singh. I will forever appreciate the many sacrifices he made in order for me to pursue this dream. When I feel unprepared or when obstacles, doubts and competing demands cloud my vision and dilute my resolve, he provides the perspective and clarity required to find solutions.
At times, his valuable suggestions to enhance my research, how to begin the quantitative analysis, insightful discussion and prompting helped me take my statistical analysis to a higher level. You helped me through the long process of taking fragments of ideas, solidifying them into research questions and then making those thoughts and questions a reality. Thanks for your statistical and methodological guidance and support. For his tireless support, encouragements, for all his sacrifices which have enabled me to reach this point and reminding of the strength within, I thank you from the core of my heart.

I wish to extend thanks to my family members especially my daughter, Tamusha, who had always extended support and encouragement for completion of this study. Above all I must thank God for blessing my life, for filling it with such wonderful people and opportunities and for seeing me through this and all of life’s other challenges. I am forever in His debt.

I hope that with the blessings of each of you, I shall be able to reap the reward of my effort.
