APPENDIX-I

1. Why, according to you, police is termed as non-friendly—rather enimical to the people?

2. Do you contend that police consider the citizens as their subjects?

3. Do you think there is a need of splitting the police into two parts: Welfare police and (ii) Criminal Police?

4. Do you think there is any need to polish the police?

5. Do you agree/disagree with the view that police is (mis)used by the politicians for their own petty/large interests?

6. Have you ever come across an incident when police (mis)behaved with you?

7. If a theft/querral incident occurs in your neighbourhood and you ring up to the police, do they promptly come on the scene to protect person and property?

8. If a dead/injured person (due to accident or otherwise) is lying on the road and you report the matter to the police as you noticed it, do the police involves/harasses you in the matter despite no fault of yours?

9. Suppose the police is involved in high-handedness with your neighbour, do you dare to intervene to protect your neighbour?
10. Suppose someone is murdered by someone else within your sight and you report it to the police, would you face problems or appreciation from the police?

11. Do you agree that even in normal interaction, police personnel, especially constabulary, use unsocial and abusive language while dealing with the public?

12. Do you agree to the hypothesis that police personnel do not make good neighbours?

13. Visit of some police personnel to someone's house, even though he may be a relative of the host, raises several eyebrows in the neighbourhood. What do you think is the reason behind this?

14. Have you heard or come across an instance where some police personnel was seen accepting bribe?

15. If answer to Question No. 14 above is 'yes', was the incident reported by you to the higher police authorities? Did the matter reach a logical conclusion?

16. Any other positive/negative reaction towards police functioning.