TABLE OF CONTENTS

Acknowledgements i-ii
List of Tables iii-v
List of Figures vi
List of Abbreviations vii

CHAPTER - 1 THEORETICAL FRAME WORK 1-39

1.0.0 Introduction
1.1.1 Reorientation of Higher Education in a New Fangled Era
1.1.2 Challenges and Opportunities in Higher Education
1.1.3 Importance of a Teacher as a Decisive Agent
1.1.4 Concept of Job Satisfaction
1.1.5 Theories of Job Satisfaction
1.2.0 Need and Justification of the Problem
1.3.0 Statement of the Problem
1.4.0 Operational Definitions of the Key Terms:
   1.4.1 Correlates
   1.4.2 Job satisfaction
   1.4.3 Aided institutions
   1.4.4 Self-financing institutions
   1.4.5 Teachers
1.5.0 Significance of the Study
1.6.0 Objectives of the Study
1.7.0 Hypotheses in the Study
1.8.0 Delimitation of the Study

References

CHAPTER 11 REVIEW OF RELATED LITERATURE 40-91

2.0.0 Introduction
2.1.0 Classification of Researches
   2.1.1 Foreign Studies
   2.1.2 Indian Studies
2.2.0 Conclusion

References
CHAPTER – 111  METHOD AND PROCEDURE……………………………..91-110

3.0.0  Introduction

3.1.0  Research Method

3.2.0  Variables of the Study
  3.2.1  Demographic Variables
  3.2.2  Academic Variables
  3.2.3  Organizational Variable

3.3.0  Population and sample of the Study

3.4.0  Instrumentation
  3.4.1  Teachers’ Job Satisfaction Scale
  3.4.2  Self Constructed Job Satisfaction Characteristics Scale

3.5.0  Data Collection and Organization

3.6.0  Statistical Techniques

References

CHAPTER – IV  ANALYSIS AND INTERPRETATION OF DATA……111-144

4.0.0  Introduction

4.1.0  Job Satisfaction of College Teachers

4.2.0  Comparison of Job Satisfaction of Teachers Teaching in Self Financing and Government Aided Institutions

4.3.0  Correlates of Job Satisfaction among College Teachers
  4.3.1  Relationship in Job Satisfaction and Age
  4.3.2  Relationship in Job Satisfaction and Gender
  4.3.3  Relationship in Job Satisfaction and Marital Status
  4.3.4  Relationship in Job Satisfaction and Educational Qualification
  4.3.5  Relationship in Job Satisfaction and Experience
  4.3.6  Relationship in Job Satisfaction and Work Load
  4.3.7  Relationship in Job Satisfaction and Work Conflict
  4.3.8  Relationship in Job Satisfaction and Job Involvement
  4.3.9  Relationship in Job Satisfaction and Supervision
  4.3.10 Relationship in Job Satisfaction and Management Policies
  4.3.11 Relationship in Job Satisfaction and Inter Personal Relationship
  4.3.12 Relationship in Job Satisfaction and Academic Facilities
4.3.13 Relationship in Job Satisfaction and Infrastructural Facilities
4.3.14 Relationship in Job Satisfaction and Teaching Itself
4.3.15 Relationship in Job Satisfaction and Salary

4.4.0 Predictor Variables of Job Satisfaction among College Teachers

4.5.0 Difference in Job Satisfaction between Teachers Teaching in Self Financing and Government Aided Institutions with Reference to its Predictor Variables

4.6.0 Conclusion

CHAPTER – V DISCUSSIONS OF THE RESULTS, CONCLUSION, IMPLICATIONS, LIMITATION OF THE STUDY AND SUGGESTIONS FOR THE FURTHER RESEARCHES……………………………………145-183

Introduction

5.0.0 Findings

5.1.0 Discussion of Results

5.2.0 Conclusion of the Findings

5.3.0 Educational Implications of the Findings:

5.4.0 Limitations of the Present Research

5.5.0 Suggestions for Further Research

References

APPENDICES………………………………………………………………………………………………1-37

A. Bibliography

B. Table 1 Raw Scores of Self Financed Institutions Teachers on Teachers Job Satisfaction Scale (TJSS)

Table 2 Raw Scores of Government Aided Institutions Teachers on Teachers Job Satisfaction Scale (TJSS)

Table 3 Details of Self Financed Institution’s Teachers on Demographic and Academic Variables

Table 4 Details of Government Aided Institution’s Teachers on Demographic and Academic Variables

Table 5 Raw Scores of Self Financed Institutions Teachers on Sub Scale of JSCS

Table 6 Raw Scores of Government Aided Institutions Teachers on Sub Scale of JSCS
C. Tools

(i) Teachers’ Job Satisfaction Scale

(ii) Self Constructed Job Satisfaction Characteristics Scale

........
ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In the name of God, Most Gracious, Most Merciful

I must remain indebted to Dr. (Mrs.) Shashi Malik (Assistant Professor), Department of Education, V.M.L.G College, Ghaziabad for her expert guidance, constructive criticism and encouragement, which enabled me to bring this task to an end.

I am immensely grateful to the principal of V.M.L.G College, Ghaziabad for providing necessary facilities and help. Special thanks are to Dr. Sindhu Bala, (Head of the Department, Education) V.M.L.G College; Ghaziabad for her cooperation.

I would like to thank the heads of the institutions and teachers who helped me in collecting the required data by providing cooperation and necessary information for the present work.

Thanks also to the staff of Education Department C.C.S University, Meerut; Library, V.M.L.G College, Ghaziabad and NCERT, New Delhi for their support.

I don’t have words to express my deep gratitude to my much loved parents Mrs. Shashi Rathi and Mr. M. R. Rathi for their unconditional love, prop up, understanding, appreciation and blessings that are everlasting. The motivation, inspiration and encouragement provided by my elder sister Mrs. Sunita Tomar (Social Worker) and her family. The moral support given by my elder brothers is treasured. I am really thankful to my younger sister Mrs. Manu Singh (Head of the Department) H.R.I.T institute, Ghaziabad for her assistance in interpretation of data. I am also thankful to her family for their endurance. It shall be failing in my duty if I do not express my gratitude to my Mother and father in-law and all other members of the family. Also thanks to all my well wishers and friends for inspiring me to work harder and better.