ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Crime in the society exists like other evils. Terrorism and International terrorism in particular concerns the international community for a long time. I believe that the development of a nation can not be complete unless we succeed in freeing society of the scourage of violence against innocent civilians which constitute almost nintynine percentage of the world population. It is an acknowledged fact that sacred texts social values have often misused to perpetuate violence.

It is imperative that we all pledge to protect the human rights of all human beings to physical safety emotional and spiritual dignity not only in their own home and family but also in the society for a more peaceful and equitable world.

This thesis would not have been possible without the invaluable research assistance rendered by Dr. R. C. Borpatra Gohain and timely support inspiration of Dr. J.N. Sharma. I wish to thank to all my colleagues and staffs of J.B. law college for necessary cooperation. I also want to express my good wishes to the staffs of the library of J.B law college, Central Police library, District library, Library of the law department of Gahati University and Library of K.K. Handique G.U.

In this respect I wish to express my gratitude to my family who taught me that there is only path to follow that of the 'Truth' and which your Conscience tells you is the right one. I am specially obliged to my wife who has spent sleepless nights to take care of my son in my absence. My son who is a teenager has immense sensitivity to my research topic. I am indebted to N. Sanajaba who selected this topic for my research work.

I also wish to express my deep gratitude to my sisters and Mr. R. Singh, IPS who insisted me to complete my research work.

Last but not least I am obliged to typist who has typed my thesis with his care and cautions.

Despite all the guidance and help there may be some shortcomings in this doctoral thesis, for that, the responsibility rests entirely with me.
