ACKNOWLEDGMENT

I wish to express my thanks to Dr. V. B. Athreya, Formerly Professor and Head, Department of Economics, Bharathidasan University, Tiruchirappalli, for his expert guidance and invaluable help throughout the study. He taught me the basic concepts of village study and widened my understanding of villages of India though I belong to a small village. It is a pleasure and unforgettable experience to work under his guidance. Mere words would not suffice to explain my gratitude for his persistent encouragement and advice to undertake this research.

I am grateful to the doctoral committee members Dr. S. Iyyampillai, Professor and Head, Department of Economics and Dr. M. Ravichandran, Professor and Head, Department of Environmental Management, Bharathidasan University for their support at every stage of my work. I also extend my thanks to Dr. N. Manimekalai, Director, Department of Women Studies, Bharathidasan University, for her continuous encouragement and for providing facilities for my research. I am extremely thankful to Dr. V. Backiavathy, Professor S.Lakshmi, Mr. A. Alagesan, and Mr. Perumal for their help during the work. I extend my sincere thanks to Dr. M. Thavamani, Professor, Department of sociology, Bharathidasan University for his suggestions during the course of this work. I also record my thanks to Dr. A. Singaram, Reader, Department of History and Dr. S. Subha, Lecturer, Department of Women Studies, Bharathidasan University for their encouragement to this study.

I extend my grateful thanks to Foundation for Agrarian Studies, Kolkatta for their financial assistance to carry out the research work. I also thank PRIA II project undertaken by Lund University, Sweden and affiliated with SACIwaters, Hyderabad in India for providing data and other information relating to the sample villages.

I wish to express my hearty thanks to Prof. R. Chandra Athreya, Dr. S. M. Suriyakumar and Dr. Jabamalai Raja, my undergraduate teachers of Urumu Dhanalakshmi College, Kattur for inspiring me to continue my research and their everlasting encouragement to me. I specially thank Dr. S. M. Suriya Kumar for the careful reading drafts of the thesis and making extensive comments and suggestions. His help was invaluable during the whole process of this research work.

I would like to acknowledge the support I have received from Prof. M. S. Swaminathan, Chairman, M. S. Swaminathan Research Foundation (MSSRF) and Shri. A.M. Gokhale, Executive Director, MSSRF, Chennai. I am extremely thankful to Ms. R. V. Bhavani, Director, B V Rao Centre for Sustainable Food Security, MSSRF, for facilitating timely support and encouragement. Dr. V. Arivudainami, Dr. R. Rukmani, Dr. M. Nageswaran Ms. G. Anuradha, Dr. Malarvannan, Ms. Deepa Varma, Ms. S. Punitha and Anand colleagues at MSSRF, for their motivation and constructive discussions during the course of my study. I extend my hearty thanks to Mr. A. Sakthi Velan, my colleague at MSSRF for assisting me in typesetting and motivation throughout my study.

I am also thankful to the research scholars of Department of Economics, Bharathidasan University, who provided support at various stages of my work. I also thank Mr. R. Manimohan, Research Scholar, Wageningen University, Netherlands, for the discussions at the initial stage of my research and subsequently, which were very useful. Dr. Karunnakaran, Lecturer, Department of Economics, Nehru Memorial College, Puthanampatti, helped me to sharpen my methodological approach to the study; Dr. M. Babu, Dr. Kanthavel, Dr.
Swaminathan, Dr. Chinnathambi and Mr. Selvakumar extended assistance for my research. Mr. Gandhiraj, Research Scholar, Madras Institute of Development Studies assisted me to collect literature from the Library. I thank all of them for the goodwill and friendship.

I extend my gratitude to Mr. R. Vidyasagar, Consultant, UNICEF, Chennai for advising me during the field study and constructive suggestions thereafter. I thank Dr. A. Rajagopal for his help during the data collection. I also express thanks to Dr. N. Jayakumar, Mr. D. Kathirvel, Mr. P. Sridhar, Mr. T. Senthil Kumar and Mr. Selladurai for their support in my research. I am grateful to Dr. P. Gomathinayagam, Retired Superintending Engineer, Public Works Department, Government of Tamil Nadu for introducing me to the study of water bodies.

I am grateful to the Librarians of M S Swaminathan Research Foundation, Chennai, Madras Institute of Development Studies, Chennai, Madras School of Economics, Chennai, Institute of Social and Economic Change, Bangalore, Indian Institute of Management, Bangalore, Centre for Development Studies, Thiruvananthapuram and French Institute of Pondicherry, Puducherry. I must also thank the Department of Economics, Urumu Dhanakshmi College, Kattur for providing space and necessary facilities to work during my research.

I am thankful to the Department of Census Office, Chennai, District Statistical Offices, Tiruchirappali and Karur, Taluk Statistical Office, Kulithalai, Village Administrative Officers of Naganur and Poyyamani and Panchayat Presidents of Naganur and Poyyamani for their kind provision of necessary information to carry out the research work.
I personally thank Mrs. Jayanthi Suriyakumar who encouraged me at every stage of the research work. My brother, Mr. R. Suresh, aunt Mrs. Komala Tamilarasan and mother Mrs. R. Andal Radhakrishnan are my three pillars of support. No words will be adequate to express my gratitude for their love and support.

The people of Naganur and Poyyamani, who spent valuable time with me during the whole process of data collection, are the backbone of this research work. I must extend hearty thanks to all of them.