ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The works presented in this thesis emerge through the joint efforts of lots of people without which this work have never been completed.

With reverence, the author takes the privilege to express her deep sense of gratitude and indebtness to Dr BS Bhau, Senior Scientist, Medicinal Aromatic and Economic Plants (MAEP) Division, North East Institute of Science and Technology (NEIST), Jorhat, and Dr Manab Deka, Professor, Department of Biotechnology, Gauhati University, Guwahati, for their learned counsel, valuable guidance and constant encouragement throughout the course of this investigation and in preparation of the manuscript.

Sincerest thanks and gratefulness are due to Dr PJ Handique, Head, Department of Biotechnology, and all the faculty members of the Department of Biotechnology, Gauhati University, for their precious suggestions during the course of this study.

Special gratitude is due to Dr PB Kanjilal, Former Head, MAEP Divion, NEIST, Jorhat and Dr PR Bhattacharyya, Head, MAEP Division, NEIST, Jorhat, for their judicious guidance and scholarly suggestions during the course of study.

A deep sense of thankfulness goes to all the staff members of MAEP division, NEIST, Jorhat, for their sincere help and co-operation throughout the entire period of study.

Special thanks are due to Mr MS Negi, TERI, New Delhi, for helping in applying AFLP techniques in the present study. The author wishes to express her appreciation to Dr RK Sarmah and Dr SS Singh, Senior Scientists from IHBT, Palampur, and Mr P Bhattachary, SRF, NEHU, Shillong, for their help in solving various problems associated with the different software's used in the study.
The author expresses her sincere gratitude to the Director, NEIST, Jorhat, for his kind permission to carry out the research work.

The author would like to express her deepest gratitude to Dr PC Neog, Chief Scientist (Retd.), NEIST, for encouraging, caring, and providing an excellent atmosphere for doing research.

The author is highly grateful to her present colleagues, Dr Jatin Kalita, Mr Madhurja Saikia, Mr Atul Gayan, for the constructive suggestions and help during the period of preparing this manuscript.

The author cannot forget the help and co-operation extended by Apurba, Ambarish, Arvind, Yogesh, RAkesh, Deven, Anulekha, Sujata, Tanmoy, Zola, Munni, Sneha during the course of this investigation.

The author is immensely pleased to express her heartfelt gratitude to her beloved father Late Rabindra Medhi, and mother Mrs Rina Saikia, whose inspiration, mental support and blessings were the source inspiration during the entire work.

The author is also thankful to her in-lows for their supports and believes in her.

The author is indebted to Nishi, Utpal and baidew for their untiring and selfless assistance, support and unrelenting encouragement.

Last, but not the least, the author express warm sense of appreciation to Bhaskar, Dhuba, Bornali and other family members who were the constant source of inspiration outside the academic sense.

Dated Jorhat, on 21-07-2015

(The author)