Major landslides in the Northeast

- July 2004: Landslides triggered by heavy rain in Guwahati.
- August 2005: 5 persons, 3 children, and a woman killed in landslides at three different places in Guwahati.
- July 2007: 7 died in a landslide at Jonphang in Guwahati.
- August 2007: 3 persons killed in landslides in Nalbari near Sibsagar.
- October 2007: Incessant rainfall triggers heavy landslide at Lamseti on National Highway 39, nearly 105 km from Kohima, blocking traffic for three days.
- May 2008: Mudslide kills 5 in Cachar.
- June 2008: A series of landslides and house collapse caused by heavy rains kill at least 14 in Arunachal Pradesh.
- December 2008: Labourer killed and another injured in landslide at Maligaon.

The State Soil Conservation Department has identified 8 of the 18 hills in Guwahati city as unfit for human habitation by virtue of being landslide-prone. According to official sources, the Kharguli, Nar-kashur, Fatasil, Panjibari, Noonmati, Upper Hengrabari, Gotanagar and Jyotinagar hills are prone to soil erosion or landslide. More than 10 people were killed in landslides in these areas in the past two years.