ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The author has great pleasure to express his profound sense of gratitude and to venerate his respectful research guide Dr. M. Manivel, Senior Lecturer, School of Earth Sciences, Bharathidasan University, for his inspiring guidance, unflagging enthusiasm and whole-heartted support at all stages of the work.

Sincere gratitude is expressed to Prof. Dr. S.M. Ramasamy, Head, School of Earth Sciences, Bharathidasan University for permitting to carry over this research work at School of Earth Sciences, and also for his timely and valuable suggestions from time to time towards the successful completion of the thesis.

The author is highly indebted to Prof. G. Victor Rajamanikam, Head, Department of Industries and Earth Sciences, Tamil University, Thanjavur for suggesting this research study and also for providing encouragement and unstinted support for carrying out the research study and allowing to utilize the library and laboratory facilities at Tamil University. The author is also grateful to research scholars and staff members of Tamil University for their kind help and valuable suggestions extend to him while his stay at their Institute.

The author expresses his heartfelt gratitude and sincere thanks to Dr. B. Manikam and Dr. J. Krishnamurthy, Scientists, of Indian Space Research Organization for critically reviewing the manuscript and also assisting in bringing out the thesis in the final form. The author is also highly grateful to the Scientists and Staff members of National Natural Resources Management System, ISRO Headquarters, Bangalore, for various help and assistance.

The author also wish to acknowledge Mr. M. Natarajan and A. Varadarajan, Senior Hydrogeologists of Central Groundwater Board, Southern Region for providing the secondary data sources. The help rendered by Late Mr. A. Kalimuthu, Senior Hydrogeologist, Tamil Nadu Water & Drainage Board, for allowing him to collect the present day information on Groundwater at Ramanathapuram, is also acknowledged.

The author highly acknowledges Dr. A. Balasubramanian, Associate Professor, Mysore University, for providing the computer software to process the pump tests. and geochemical data. The help rendered by Dr. T. Vasanthakumaran, Associate Professor, Department of Geography, University of Madras and Dr S. Balasubramanian, Associate Professor, Department of Environment Sciences, Bharathiar University, for finalising the thesis work is also acknowledged.

Sincere gratefulness is extended to all the faculty members of the School of Earth Sciences Dr. V. A. Chandrasekaran, Reader, Dr. A. Ganesh, Senior Lecturer Dr. K. Kumaraswamy, Senior Lecturer, and Dr. S. Aruchamy, Senior Lecturer, for their timely suggestions for completing this research work successfully.

The author sincerely expresses his thanks to all the Research Scholars and the students of School of Earth Sciences, Bharathidasan University and especially Dr. R. Jayakumar, Mr. S. Palanivel, Mr. P. Saravanakumar, Mr. J. Edwin Moses, Mr. R. Jaganathan, Mr. S. Balaji, Mr. A. Wilson, Mr. Indran, Mr. D. Ramesh and Mr. Kamaraj for their timely help and valuable suggestions towards the timely completion of the thesis. The help extended by Mr. G. Gurunathan and Mr. N. Venkatesakumar, M.Tech. Students towards the completion of the thesis is also acknowledged.

The author extends his sincere thanks to Mr. T. Punniyamurthy, Mr. M. Ravichandran and Mr. T. Shanmugam for typing the manuscript and the cartographic work. Heartful gratitude and sincere thanks were extended to Mr. P. Eranna, for his strenuous efforts towards formatting the thesis in the presentable form.

Last but it is not the least, the author expresses his sincere and heartfelt gratitude to his family members Mr. K. Durairaju, Mrs. Suseela Durairaju, Miss. D. Yashodhara, Mr. D. Shankar rajkumar, Mr. N. Anand and Mrs. Maragatham Anand, Master Varun Anand, Er K. Jayakumar and Mrs. Sundra Jayakumar for their kind patience, timely help and financial assistance rendered throughout the research work.

Finally, one and all who helped directly or indirectly in completing this thesis work is sincerely acknowledged.

(D. Kumaran Raju)