ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

At the outset I would like to express my gratitude towards Prof. Nandana Dutta, my guide, under whose supervision I did my research work. She stood by me throughout and showed her unfailing trust. Without her support it would have been impossible for me to complete the work.

I am thankful to each of the faculty members of Gauhati University who encouraged me in various ways all these years. I would also like to thank my colleagues in Dibrugarh University who helped me in managing time for this work. I shall remain indebted to Prof. P. C. Kar, Prof. Dilip Kumar Das, Prof. Tejaswini Nirajana, Prof. R. Radhakrishnan, Prof. Udaya Kumar, Prof. Vicky Kirby, Prof. Catherine Gallagher, and Dr. Nagesh Rao who helped immensely in shaping ideas at crucial stages of my thesis.

During the course of the study, I visited several libraries for collecting materials. I take this opportunity to thank the staff of the K. K. Handique and WSRC Library, Gauhati University, and LNB Library, Dibrugarh University. I would also like to thank the library staff of Delhi University and Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi; English and Foreign Languages University (EFLU), Hyderabad; National Library, Kolkata and MSU, Baroda. My special thanks go to the library staff of the Centre for Contemporary Theory (FCT), Baroda who made my stay there for one month of library fellowship fruitful.
I would also like to thank ICSSR and Forum on Contemporary Theory (FCT) for their fellowships which supported me in hard times.

My heartfelt gratitude goes to Prof. (late) K. N. Phukan, who was a source of constant support to me in Dibrugarh. May his soul rest in peace! My family members, specially my parents sacrificed a lot to facilitate my work. I can never thank them enough. Thanks to all my friends, especially Kakoli ba and Raju, who supported me in innumerable ways. Special thanks to Chandan who, since the start, took care of all the other worries of life while I was busy with my work. I owe him the most.
