ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It gives me immense pleasure to offer my heartfelt gratitude to my Supervisor, Dr. Sanjay De, Head, Dept. of Bengali, Nowgong College, Nagaon, for all the help he has given me in completing my research. In fact, simple thanks would not be sufficient to acknowledge all the trouble he has taken to stimulate me, right from selecting the area of my research and guiding me at all steps of my works, up to checking my drafts at every step. I am obliged to him for allowing me the access to his personal collection of books and journals. I would forever be indebted to Dr. De for his incessant endeavour to dispel my fears and confusions and constantly encourage me to put my best effort to my work. Without his relentless support I could never have completed my thesis.

I express my sincere gratitude to Dr. Amalendu Chakraborty, Head of the Dept. Bengali, Gauhati University, for his valuable discourses at the course work classes besides keeping me up-to-date of the of the various rules and regulations regarding my thesis. I am also immensely grateful to retired Professors Dr. Dipak Sen, Dr. Usharanjan Bhattacharya, and Dr. Tarit Choudhury, for the varied information on Methodology of Research, which they had delivered in their classes of regular course work. Besides, I offer my sincere thanks to all the teachers of the department for all the help they have extended me directly or indirectly.

I offer my deepest thanks to Dr. Sarat Barkatoki, Principal, Nowgong College, Dr. Khargeswar Bhuyan, retd. Principal, Nowgong College, and Sri Kamakhya Prasad Choudhury, Vice-Principal, Nowgong College, for helping me with their valuable suggestions and advises. I am especially indebted to Prof. Ashima Dev, retd. Vice Principal, Nowgong College for her encouragement and the trouble she had taken to personally carry several essential books from Tripura to Nagaon, to help me in my research.
I am thankful to all the Librarians, staff and associates engaged in the different offices of K. K. Handique Library, Gauhati University, M. M. D. Library, Nowgong College, Central Library, Burdwan, West Bengal, Central Library, Assam University, Silchar, Assam. I thank all those engaged in the different departments of Gauhati University, particularly the Research cell of the University, for all their assistance.

Many of the litterateurs of the North-east have directly apprised me of different valuable information regarding their works which have been very helpful to me. I am greatly obliged to all of them for their kind help, particularly Jhumur Pande, Paritosh Talukdar, Jaya Goala, Shyamal Bhattacharya, Manik Dass and others. Besides these honoured persons, I owe my sincere gratitude to some revered persons like Purnima Chakravarty and Nripen Ghosh for their encouraging contributions in preparing my thesis. I thank Smt. Sutapa Bose for carrying out the typing and corrections of my document and giving my thesis its final shape. I am thankful to all my friends and relatives for giving me all the support and encouragement when I needed them most.

The blessings of my late parents have given the strength to carry on with my research. I am obliged to each and every member of my family who have happily released me from the responsibilities of housekeeping and family ties, and giving the option to immerse myself in my work. I am particularly grateful to my husband and friend Biswajit Ghosh who has encouraged me at every step. I cannot forget to thank to my little son Biyom who had to spend many nights sleeping alone: His eagerness to listen to the various folk tales and rhymes which form important part of my thesis, have persuaded me and relieved my exhaustion through the entire period of my work.
