ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Expressing my deepest sentiments and gratitude for all those who have rendered their help for the completion of this thesis, is my duty to acknowledge them all. First, I am greatly indebted to my Research Guide and Supervisor Dr. R. Shankar, Professor and Head, Department of Sociology, Bharathidasan University, Tiruchirappalli for his wisdom, patience and meticulous guidance. His encouragement and support were essential in making my dissertation experience a academically and personally fulfilling experience.

I would like to take this opportunity to acknowledge the following people who have been integral to this dissertation and its process. With deep down sentiments of gratitude, I thank Dr. S. Iyyampillai, Professor, Department of Economics, Bharathidasan University, Tiruchirappalli and Dr. C. Venkatachalam, Senior Lecturer, Department of Sociology, Bharathidasan University, Tiruchirappalli for their guidance, constant prodding and challenges as Doctoral Committee members. I profoundly thank Dr. M. Thavamani, Mrs. A. Banu Gayathri Devi and Mrs. A. Anbu Kavitha, faculty members of Sociology Department, Bharathidasan University for their constant support.

With immense pleasure, I am grateful to Mr. Rajkumar IAS, Special Commissioner and Commissioner for Rehabilitation Department, Ezhilaham Annexe, Chepauk, Chennai and his associates for having given me permission to enter the camps for data collection as well as Fr. Louis Xavier S.J, Director of Joseph Institute of Management (JIM), St. Joseph’s College, Trichy for his able proof reading with clarity of thought. My special thanks to Dr. K. Shanmuga Vadivel, Department of Statistics, St. Joseph’s College, Tiruchirappalli, who helped me in the process of data analysis and interpretation by using SPSS Package.
My heartfelt thanks to Fr. S. Lazar S.J, Rector of St. Joseph’s College, Tiruchirappalli, Fr. R. Rajarathinam S.J, Principal and Fr. A. Joseph S.J, Secretary of St. Joseph’s College, Tiruchirappalli, and Fr. John Britto S.J, the former Principal and Fr. D. Selvanayagam S.J, the former secretary for their words of encouragement. In a special way I thankfully remember the faculty members of Human Resources Management Dr. M. Elias, Head of the Department, Dr. P. Devanesan, Dr. A. Savarimuthu, Dr. M. Joseph Irudayaraj, Mr. A. Thandeswaran and other professors for their sustained support and for their invaluable exchange of ideas during the progress of this thesis. When expressed my wish to my Provincial, Fr. Francis Xavier S.J, regarding doing research, he then allowed me to pursue this research. I thank him for all that he had been to me.

I extend my sincere thanks to JRS (Jesuit Refugee Service), South Asia Director Fr. P. S. Amalraj SJ who allowed me to attend an International Summer School in Forced Migration in Oxford University from July 4-23, 2004. With a sense of gratitude, I thank Fr. C. Amalraj, Fr. Vinny Joseph, Fr. Francis Sales and Br. Natarajan. I also thank Fr. Prem Kumar, the director of JRS - Tamil Nadu, his team members and the offices in Dindigul and Bangalore for having allowed me to do an internship with the office availing the resources that came in handy. I thank them all for the thorough and incisive ideas on refugees they shared

Dr. Joseph Xavier, Mr. Michael Sammanasu, Mr. Jerome, Golden Net Computers and Michaels Binding, to make this presentation of the thesis appealing and prompt, have helped me a lot. I could never have finished this thesis without the cooperation of the refugees in the camps. I thank them all for the invaluable time they spared for me during the period of data collection.
