ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The thesis "A STUDY ON FUELWOOD CONSUMPTION BY RURAL HOUSEHOLDS AND THE IMPACT OF SOCIAL FORESTRY PROJECT" conceived by the researcher when he had his initiation into the field of social science research has now taken shape and is about to see the light of day. At each and every stage in this work he has availed the cooperation and assistance of many a noble soul. He will be failing in his duty if he does not acknowledge his deep sense of gratitude to all those noble souls but for whose help the work would not have seen the light of the day.

First and foremost the researcher would like to thank his guide Dr. C. Thangamuthu, Professor and Head, Department of Economics, Bharathidasan University who initiated him into the realm of social science research and made him cultivate an interest in it through his erudite exposition of its technical niceties. The researcher firmly believes that the time he had spent with his guide served to widen his intellectual horizon and develop in him a thirst for scientific analysis of facts as well as theories. To be with Dr. Thangamuthu and to discuss with him mode of analysis and presentation of the facts of the study has been a unique experience to the researcher.

The researcher would also like to thank the members of the Faculty of Economics in Bharathidasan University who have always encouraged him in the preparation of this thesis.

The researcher would like to thank the heads of the sample households and village officials in Mathur and Nallur for extending constructive cooperation to him at the time he conducted the survey.

The researcher owes special thanks to Prof. N. Abdul Samadh, former Principal of Jamal Mohamed College, under whose feet he has had his initiation into the intricacies of economics theory as his student. But for his support and encouragement this work would not have seen its fruition.

Another person who has been largely instrumental to the completion of this work is Prof. K. Abdullah Basha, the present Principal of Jamal Mohamed College. As the head of the faculty to which the researcher belongs and as his one time teacher he took the liberty to advise the researcher to take up the work with single minded concentration and complete it in time.

The researcher will be failing in his duty if he does not thank his erstwhile teachers Dr. M.H. Abubacker, Head of the Department of Economics, Jamal Mohamed College, Prof. M. Mohamed Umar, Dr. Samsu Aliar and Prof Syed Usman who are at present his colleagues for their guidance, encouragement and support in the present work.

The researcher is indebted to Dr. Ramaniah, Prof. of Maths and A. Saleem Batcha, Prof. of Economics Jamal Mohamed College for their guidance and assistance in the statistical interpretation of data. The researcher is specially indebted to Prof. Mohamed Ismail H.O.D. Computer Science Dept, Prof Yahya and Prof Abdulla of the same department and Abdul Malick and Abdul Rahman Computer Programmers in the dept who have been of great help to him in the final execution of this work.

The Chief Conservator of Social Forestry, Tamil Nadu and Mr. Kamal Pasha, I.F.S., (Retd.) District Forest Officer, the staff in the District Forest Department and the ranges in Keeranur and the Plot Watchers in the Social Forestry Plantations at Mathur and Nallur have also been kind enough to provide plethora of information about the working of Social Forestry Project in Pudukkottai District, especially in the two Villages selected for the study. The researcher would like to thank all of them. He would like to specially thank Mr. Kamal Pasha who was always willing to help the researcher in the midst of his multifarious responsibilities.

The researcher can never forget the help rendered by Prof. Kader Ibrahim of the Dept. of Chemistry, Jamal Mohamed College in the collection of literature relating to the subject from N.I.R.D Hyderabad. The researcher wishes to express his gratitude to him.

The researcher wishes to thank the Librarians in charge of U.S.I.S. Library, British Council Library and M.I.D.S. Library and B.A.R.D. Library for providing him access to books, magazines, and journals in their library.

Dr. Neelakantan, former Director of M.I.D.S, Chennai was kind enough to permit the researcher to use the library and discuss with the faculty. The researcher would like to record his hearty thanks to him. He would also like to express his indebtedness to Mr. Gulam, Deputy Director (Retd) The Evaluation and Research Department, Government of Tamil Nadu, Madras, who was kind enough to provide him relevant materials on Social Forestry from his Department.

Prof Yusooof, Prof Sindhasha, Prof Fazal Mohamed and Prof Ibrahim took great pains to go through the typed script and make corrections. The researcher wishes to thank them for their valuable service.

The researcher further wishes to thank Professors of Economics both retired and in service belonging to other colleges who offered him valuable suggestions in the preparation of this thesis.

The researcher believes that it was the Almighty God who provided him the services of all these noble souls. Words fail him when he wishes to express his gratitude to Providence. Suffice is to say “God is great”.
