Acknowledgements

I owe a deep debt of gratitude to my supervisor S.R. Ahalawat, Department of Sociology, Maharishi Dayanand University, Rohtak for his continued interest in guiding this work. Without his encouragement, diligence and scholarly help, this study could not have been completed.

I am grateful to Prof. R. K. Upadhyaya, (Retd.) & founder Chairman of Department of Social Work, Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra for providing me valuable information and guidance at all times. I must also thank my friends and colleagues for their co-operation and for sparing their precious time to help me.

A special thanks to my parents who gave a befitting direction to me in my moments of stress during the course of this study. But for their inspiration, I would not have been able to undertake this project.

Also, my appreciation, for Rashmi, my wife, for being patient and encouraging throughout my work.

Most importantly, I want to express my gratitude to the respondents of this study who, their inhibitions notwithstanding, shared the most emotional accounts of their lives, their trials and tribulations, their anxieties of living in a society fraught with prejudices and how they just failed to check the relentless march of destiny.
