ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I thank my Research Adviser Dr. K. Thiyagesan, M.Sc., M.Phil., Ph.D., Reader in Zoology, Department of Zoology, A.V.C. College, for trusting me and instilling confidence in me to undertake this study, for being an excellent guide and mentor, and for his continuing advice, encouragement and support throughout the study.

I express my deep gratitude to Prof. R. Sukumar, Chairman, Centre for Ecological Sciences, Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore for introducing me to the Asian elephants, and for teaching me many important facets of elephant ecology, for being my advisor for all seasons, and for always being source of encouragement throughout this study, which has resulted in the successful completion of this thesis.

I am very grateful to Dr. T.N.C. Vidya, CES, IISc, Bangalore, for her generous and patient help in all stages of the analysis of data and for her encouragement.

My sincere thanks are due to the Principal, A.V.C. College, Mayiladuthurai for giving me an opportunity to do my research in this college and for providing all facilities.

My sincere thanks are due to Prof. S. Swetharanyam, Head, Department of Zoology, A.V.C.Colle for providing necessary facilities to do this research.

I extend my sincere thanks to all staff Members of the Department of Zoology, A.V.C.College for their constant encouragement.
I express my sincere gratitude and appreciation to the Ministry of Environment & Forests, Govt. of India for their financial support for the field work at Mudumalai Wildlife Sanctuary through the Centre for Ecological Sciences Field Station and Rotterdam Zoo, Netherlands for the financial support for the field work at Nagarhole National Park and Periyar Tiger Reserve through the Asian Nature Conservation Foundation, Bangalore.

I thank the Tamil Nadu Forest Department, especially Mr. A. Udayan I.F.S., former Wildlife Warden Mudumalai, Dr. S. Paulraj I.F.S., former Wildlife Warden, Mudumalai and Mr. Ashok Upreti I.F.S., Wildlife Warden, Mudumalai, for their support in the field.

My sincere thanks are due to Mr. Kantha Raju and Mr. Yatish Kumar Deputy Conservator of Forests, Bandipur National Park, Karnataka, for their support during my fieldwork at Bandipur and Nagarhole National Parks, Karnataka.

My sincere thanks are due to Mr. Pramod G. Krishnan IFS, Deputy Director, Periyar Tiger Reserve, Kerala for his support during my field work at Periyar Tiger Reserve, Kerala.

I extend my sincere thanks to my colleague and friend Mr. R. Arumugam, who first introduced me to this wonderful family of elephant researchers at Mudumalai that has made all the difference to my work.

I extend my sincere thanks to Dr. N. Baskaran, Research scientist, for his valuable suggestions during the thesis writing.
My special thanks to Dr. Veeramani, Ecologist, for his help during the field work at Periyar Tiger Reserve, Kerala.

I extend my sincere thanks to Mr. H.S. Suresh, Mr. H.S. Dattaraj, Mr. C.M. Bharanaiah, and Dr. M. Kumaresan, from Centre for Ecological Sciences, Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore for their encouragement and support during my field work at Mudumalai.

I extend my sincere thanks to my colleagues Mr. Joshua David, Mr. A. Madhusudan, Mr. K. Surendra Varma, Mr. Vijay D Anand, Mr.V. Narender Babu and Mr. G. Kannan, of the Asian Nature Conservation Foundation, Bangalore for their valuable help and suggestions while writing the thesis.

I extend my sincere thanks to Mr. M.O.Sriram, Senior Administrator at the Asian Nature Conservation Foundation, Bangalore for his support and encouragement during the fieldwork at Periyar.

My sincere thanks are due to Dr. Kalaivanan, Asst. Veterinary Surgeon, Mudumalai Wildlife Sanctuary and Dr. Shanmugasundaram, Forest Veterinary Officer, Coimbatore Circle, Tamil Nadu Forest Department; and Mr.S.Swaminathan of the Bombay Natural History Society, for their valuable assistance at Mudumalai during my field work.

I extend my sincere thanks to Mrs. S. Nirmala, Ms. Nandita Mondal, Mr. K. Manavalan, and Mr. K. Palani at the Centre for Ecological Sciences, Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore for their help while writing the thesis.

My special thanks are due to Mr. S. Sandilyan, Lecturer in Zoology, A.V.C. College and my fellow research scholar Mrs. A.S. Maheshwari for their help and assistance in the preparation of the thesis and in research communications with the University.
Most of all, I thank my trackers Mr. K. Krishnan, Mr. B. Bomman, Mr. K. Siddan and Mr. Maran for teaching me to trek inside the jungles, co-operating with me in the field without hesitation and for taking care of my life while observing the elephants.

I extend my heartfelt thanks to Mr. R. Mohan, Driver at the CES Field Station, Mudumalai, for patiently driving me day and night into the elephant country.

I extend my sincere thanks to my uncle Mr. S. Thiagarajan and his family and my brothers Mr. C. Venkatesh, Mr. C. Rajendran, Mr. C. Prabha and Mr. C. Senthil for their support and hospitality during my research period and constant encouragement while writing the thesis.

This work would never have been completed without the co-operation of my dear wife Viji and son Ashwin, who endured long periods of absence from home, who stood by me always and took care of my every need.

(C. ARIVAZHAGAN)