The Summer Sequential M. Phil Course conducted by the Bharathidasan University at Tiruchirappalli, had in its syllabus a component on Indian Writing in English. I undertook a study of the novels of Bhabani Bhattacharya in my M. Phil. Dissertation. The focus was on the Gandhian element in the novels of Bhabani Bhattacharya. This study provided me with an opportunity to get acquainted with the major and minor Indian Novelists in English. My research guide, Dr. H.G.S. Arulandram, introduced me to the philosophy of Existentialism and the concept of alienation, and suggested that I work on a topic, which has much significance for man, who is beset with psychological problems in this modern age. I undertook to make an in-depth study of the novels of Arun Joshi, who is prominent among the minor Indian English Novelists. This thesis on “The Alienation in the Novels of Arun Joshi ” is the result.

I express my profound gratitude to my Research Guide and Supervisor Dr. H. G. S. Arulandram, Director (Rtd.), Council for College and Curriculum Development, Bharathidasan University, Tiruchirappalli, for his scholarly advice and guidance. I am deeply indebted to him for his guidance and encouragement. With immense pleasure, I express my sincere and heartfelt thanks to Dr. A. Noel J. Irudayaraj, Professor and Head of the Department of English, Bharathidasan University, Tiruchirappalli for permitting me to do my research work as Part-Time Research Scholar in the Department of English, Bharathidasan University, and to the members of the Faculty of English for their encouragement and help.
I remember with gratitude the Librarians of various Libraries, especially the Librarians of The Study Centre for Indian Literature in English and Translation, the Bharathidasan University, Tiruchirappalli and the American College, Madurai, for having fed me with valuable reference on English Literature in general and Arun Joshi in particular.

I extend my warm gratitude to my sister, Dr. Shyamala Sunderabai, Lecturer in English, Government Arts College for Women, Pudukkottai, and to my husband M. Santhosh Babu, Joint Director of Collegiate Education, Madurai Region, who have stood by me and helped me in the successful completion of my thesis. I remember with love, my sons, Vasanth Joel and Vinodh Noel, for helping me type my thesis in my Computer. I also thank my friends Dr. C. Issac Jebastine, Lecturer in English, Sudharsan Engineering College, Pudukkottai, Mrs. Nazneen, Principal, Government Arts College for Women, Ramanathapuram and Mr. S. Navaneethan, Lecturer in English, H.H. The Rajah’s College, Pudukkottai for their support and valuable suggestions.

Above all, I thank Almighty God for His infinite mercy and I dedicate my work first to God and then to my parents, who have always been the beacon light of all my pursuits.

T. Vijaya Grace