ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is my privilege to thank the Lord Almighty who is the Prime Mover of my doctoral pursuit.

“Impossible” be seem ‘Possible’ when we encounter unique personnel. This treatise reflects the meticulous direction received from Dr. S. John Britto SJ, Director, The Rapinat Herbarium and Centre for Molecular Systematics, St. Joseph’s College (Autonomous), Tiruchirappalli 620 002. The completion of this treatise shows the systematic guidance, energetic furtherance and persistent countenance of Dr. S John Britto, who introduced me to the ethnobotanic research which made me fully absorbed in it starting with the field work at the Kalrayan hills. I owe my profound gratitude to him.

I am indebted to Mr. Arulanandan, the Forester, and his colleagues Kallakurichi range, for their able assistance especially in collecting data of the area, from the Forest Department, visiting the field and houses, collection of plants, recording the information shared by the medicinemen and informants. I specially thank all the medicinemen and women, the village leaders, interpreters, elders of the village and all the villagers for their contribution to the information reported in this investigation.

I am grateful to Mr. Victor, Miss Valaroli, Miss Deepa, Miss Ezhilarasi for having accompanied me in the fieldtrip in the collection of plants and helping in the preparation of the herbarium. I sincerely thank Rev. Sr. Romilda and Mrs. Sophie for assisting me in various ways.

I am much indebted to the Management of St. Joseph’s College (Autonomous), Tiruchirappalli, Frs. Rector, Principal and the Secretary for their whole hearted support and encouragement.
I am overwhelmed to thank Dr. S. Senthilkumar, M.Sc., M.Phil., Ph.D., Senior Lecturer, Department of Plant Biology and Plant Biotechnology, St. Joseph’s College (Autonomous), Tiruchirappalli 620 002, who had been the member of the doctoral committee, who by his efficiency and generosity in offering his precious suggestion and support in my project work has enabled me to complete the work successfully.

I am very much grateful to all the staff members of The Rapinat Herbarium, Mr. A Rajasekaran, Mrs. Bhanumathy Thulasiraj, Mrs. Hema Ramesh, Mr. S. Perianayagam, Miss A. Maria and Mrs. Lilly for considering me as one among them and provided all my requirements to complete my treatise with a homely atmosphere. I also thank Mr. S Prabhu, Mr. L. Joel and other Research scholars who extended their help willingly.

I esteem the rapport given by my Religious congregation, Immaculate Heart of Mary’s Congregation, Pondicherry for granting permission and finance.

HOW GREAT ARE THE WORKS OF OUR LORD!

Sr. Mary Nirmala Rani, (FIHM)
