* I wish to express my deep sense of gratitude to:

* Dr. S.K. Mohanty, Principal Scientist and Head, Division of Soil Science and Microbiology, Central Rice Research Institute, Cuttack for suggesting the problem, valuable guidance, kind assistance, concrete suggestions and encouragements throughout the period of investigation and preparation of the thesis.

* Dr. S. Patnaik, Director, Central Rice Research Institute, Cuttack for awarding a fellowship, providing necessary facilities for carrying out this research work.

* Dr. D. Panda, for his generous help, cooperation, encouragement and moral support for carrying out these field and laboratory studies and also in the preparation of this thesis.

* Dr. R. N. Samantaray and Dr. M. M. Panda for their encouragement, valuable suggestions and periodical assistance in preparation of this thesis.

* Sarva Shri K. Panda, B. Behera, S. Sethy, N. C. Paik, M. Behera, J. Sethi and other staff members of the Soil Science and Microbiology Division for their cooperation and timely help in the field and laboratory work.

* Dr. K. Naik, Plant Protection Officer, Sambalpur and Sri P. K. Das, Addl. Dist. Agril. Officer, Kolabira for their moral support and encouragement for carrying out this research work.

* Dr. (Mrs.) P. Mahapatra, Dr. S. K. Dey and Sri D. Surendra Nath and other friends for their generous cooperation and timely help in preparation of this thesis.

* S/Sri K. B. Agasti and S. N. Rout for taking pain in typing this thesis.

* Mrs. Basanti, my wife, Shambhu and Shubhrata, my son and daughter for their sacrifice and moral support for carrying out this research work.