ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is my great pleasure and moral duty to acknowledge the help and guidance of my revered teacher Dr. R.K. Jena, Professor and Dean, Faculty of Commerce and Management studies, Uthal University, who with this special advice on different aspects of the problem of my study helps to give it the final shape. His suggestions and timely advice were extremely stimulating and enlightening for me and will remain among the high moments in my life. He not only supervised my doctoral dissertation but also shapes my critical sensibility.

I am also deeply indebted to Dr. H.K. Swain, reader, Department of Personnel Management and Industrial Relations, Uthal University, for helping me with valuable suggestions, information and timely correction after critical reading throughout the writing of this dissertation without this help it is an impossibility on my part to complete this study.

My consciousness of a debt to my learned teachers, Prof. B.N. Pattnaik, Prof. P.C. Tripathy and friendly colleagues Dr. S. Moharana, Dr. R.K. Bal and other members of the Department of commerce, Uthal University for their generous and patient help during the discussion of my work finds no real formula and can only be acknowledged gratefully and inadequately.

I owe special debt of gratitude to Dr. J.K. Parida and Sri P.K. Pradhan of the Dept. of Commerce Uthal University for their valuable suggestions and encouragement at all stages of my research work.
I have immensely benefited from the discussions with Dr. P.C. Das, Chief Statistician, Office of the Labour Commissioner, Orissa, Mr. R.N. Bose, Senior Personnel Manager, IDCOL and Mr. P.K. Mohanty, Manager Finance, IDCOL for which I shall remain thankful to them.

I shall be failing in my duty if I do not thank the Librarians of Tata Institute of Social Science, Bombay, J.N. Library, Bombay University, Xavier Institute Library, State Assembly Library and Directorate of Statistics, Bhubaneswar for providing me access to their Libraries.

I express my sincere thanks to MIS Professionals Computer Center, Bhubaneswar for the neat and timely production of the thesis.

I am greatly thankful to all my friends who have always provided me with encouragement and support for the completion of the project.

Last but not the least my hearty thanks to my wife Sangita, son Pinu and other family members for their co-operation and forbearance.
