Select Bibliography

Primary Sources

Novels

Short fiction

Poetry

---. April Twilights. Boston, MA: Richard G. Badger, 1903.

Essay Collections

Secondary Sources

1. Bibliographies.

2. Biographies

3. Critical Studies

Stewart, Grace. A New Mythos: The Novel Of the Artist As Herione.1877-1977. – 2d.
   Montreal, Canada : Epwp, [c1981].

Slote, Bernice “Willa Cather”. Sixteen Modern American Authors, Ed. by Jackson Bryer.

4. Journal Articles

Al-Ghalith, Asad. "Cather's Use of Light: An Impressionistic Tone." Cather Studies 3
   ---. "Willa Cather's Use of Planetary Light Imagery to Depict Character in Selected

Albertini, Virgil. "Cather Syllabi: A Study." Willa Cather Pioneer Memorial Newsletter 44.

Ambrose, Jamie. Willa Cather: Writing at the Frontier. Oxford; New York: St. Martin's,

Amos-Bankester, Anthea E. "Teaching My Ántonia: The 'Introductions' and the Impact of

Anders, John Piland. "Cather as Code." Willa Cather Pioneer Memorial Newsletter 41.2

Cutter, Martha J. Unruly Tongue: Identity and Voice in American Women's Writing.

Dollar, J. Gerhard "Misogyny in the American Eden: Abbey, Cather, and Maclean."

Donovan, Josephine. "The Pattern of Birds and Beasts: Willa Cather and Women's Art."

---. "Glasgow's Barren Ground and Cather's O Pioneers!: Changing the Paradigm."

Dubek, Laura. "Rewriting Male Scripts: Willa Cather and The Song of the Lark."

Murphy, Joseph. "Cather's Re-Vision of American Typology in My Ántonia." John J.
Murphy et al eds. Willa Cather: Family, Community, and History. Provo: Brigham

Nealon, Christopher. "Affect-Genealogy: Feeling and Affiliation in Willa Cather."
American Literature 69 (March 1997): 5-37.

Nettels, Elsa. "Gender and First-Person Narration in Willa Cather's Fiction." Jeanne
Campbell Reesman ed. Speaking the Other Self: American Women Writers. Athens:

---. Language and Gender in American Fiction: Howells, James, Wharton and Cather.

---. "Tradition and the Woman Artist: James's The Tragic Muse and Cather's The Song of

---. "Youth and Age in the Old and New Worlds: Willa Cather and A. E. Housman."---.

O'Brien, Sharon. "Becoming Noncanonical: The Case against Willa Cather." American

Ostwalt, Conrad. "Boundaries and Marginality in Willa Cather's Frontier Fiction."
Kiyoshi Tsuchiya ed. Dissent and Marginality: Essays on the Borders of Literature

Panichas, George A. "Growing Wings to Overcome Gravity." Modern Age 34 (Spring

Petrie, Paul R. "'Skulking Escapist' versus 'Radical Editor': Willa Cather, the Left Critics and Sapphira and the Slave Girl." Southern Quarterly 34.2 (1996): 27-37.

Ryan, Steven P. "'A World above the World': Transcendence in Cather's Fiction." Willa Cather Pioneer Memorial Newsletter 34.3 (1990): 28-34.

---. "Willa Cather's Early Journalism: Gender, Performance, and the 'Manly Battle Yarn'." Arizona Quarterly 55.3 (1999): 51-82.

(Spring 1990): 121-29.

Wussow, Helen. "Language, Gender and Ethnicity in Three Fictions by Willa Cather."

5. Works about Immigrant Concerns:

6. Theoretical and Historical Works on American Literature: